'No simple solution' to traveller encampments

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsexnews.co.uk

COUNTY police commissioner Nick Alston has warned there are "no simple solutions" to dealing with illegal traveller encampments in Harlow.

Speaking after a fiery public meeting at which residents vented their fury at the authorities who they accused of not doing enough to deal with the situation, Mr Alston said: "I think the complexity of the problem was explored in some detail but there are no simple solutions."

"It was a really good meeting. A lot of people's views were clearly articulated and there was real passion and strength. I do believe everyone is doing their hardest."

Mr Alston chaired Wednesday's meeting, which was originally due to be held at the Latton Bush Centre but moved at short notice to the Park Inn Hotel because of the high number of people who were expected to attend.

It was called to discuss crime trends and figures as well as newly introduced local policing plans, but the bulk of the evening was spent on the ongoing problem with unauthorised encampments in the town.

Among those who attended the meeting were Harlow MP Robert Halfon, Assistant Chief Constable of Essex Police Julia Wortley, Acting Chief Inspector Greg Wood Harlow Council's community safety manager Marysia Rudgley and Stephen Andrews of Essex County Council's traveller unit.

Chief Inspector Wood explained the use of powers under the Criminal Justice and Public Order Act 1994 and the Highways Act when dealing with illegal encampments.

The shortage of transit and permanent fixed sites was also discussed, with many of those present agreeing that something needed to be done to address the lack of provision.

However, Mr Andrews said it was not the responsibility of the county council to provide the required sites. "There is a common misconception," he explained. "We are not the housing authority; any transit sites or new sites will be down to the local authority."

"There are no transit sites but the district and borough councils need to decide on if they should build those. We do not have any power in that."

"There was something called the Regional Special Strategy which meant each district had to provide at least 15 places. That policy was quashed with the change of Government and now it is down to the individual housing authority who can do that through their local plan."

Two members of the audience who identified themselves as Gypsy Travellers, said they had been in the town since last October after being ordered to leave their own land in Epping.

"We have land in Epping brought with our savings and were kicked off," they said. "We were put out of our own home which is why we are in Harlow."

Councillor Maggie Hulcoop said: "We need to have more sites across Essex. Officers have been working hard but we have to have the partnership working so all people, Travellers and residents, will have a solution. "We cannot keep talking, we need to start acting."

As a result of comments from residents and members of the panel, Mr Alston said he will encourage law-

Eight years in jail for father-of-three who struck attack victim with a brick

A FATHER-of-three who hit another man with a brick during a grudge attack has been jailed for eight years.

Chelmsford Crown Court was told that Jason Kiddell, 26, of Westfield, Harlow, left his victim with a facial cut which needed 13 stitches.

The incident happened at Spring Hills on July 29 during a meeting between the two which had been arranged by Kiddell.

Kiddell, who pleaded guilty to causing grievous bodily harm with intent and having a brick as an offensive weapon, hit the victim with the brick as he stood outside his car and punched him twice.

Caroline Gardiner, prosecuting, said the victim knew Kiddell as he was his ex-partner's brother. They arranged to meet outside the Co-op at Spring Hills.

Miss Gardiner said the victim had been planning to go to pub, and parked his car about 50 metres away at about 10.30pm. He got out of his vehicle but was then "surprised" when he saw Kiddell and another man walking towards him.

She continued: "Kiddell said 'come on then, come on then,' indicating going to the pub, [the victim] went into his car to turn off the engine and the defendant pulled out a brick from his jacket and struck him at the front of his head.

"Completely shocked, he got into the car to drive away but his window was left down and Kiddell punched him in the mouth area and then to the forehead near his eye which split open his head."

Julie Brimble, representing Kiddell, said in mitigation: "It's obviously a serious matter and is accepted by the defendant.

"He'd had something to drink and he's very sorry and probably wouldn't have dealt with it in the same way had he not been drinking. However, he's now addressing his issues in prison and is making use of the help available in the prison system."

As he jailed Kiddell, recorder Adrian Williamson told him: "You set out with a brick to cause really serious injury and you did cause serious injury. It was a residential area at night."

Mother of tragic rugby teen raises £1.2k for charity

A MOTHER has raised almost £1,300 for the Lymphoma Association after the death of her son earlier this year.

Accountant Tracey Taylor, 42, of Tithelands, Harlow, hosted a charity tea break to raise funds and awareness of lymphoma after her 17-year-old son Jake died of Hodgkin Lymphoma.

The event raised more than £1,200 for the charity through family and friends' donations and a raffle.

"We did it all from home, and people were really grateful with their donations and raffle gifts," Tracey said.

"Daisy Chain donated flowers for the raffle and also did Jake's funeral flowers and Gary Adams at Adams Motors offered a free MOT.

"We raised £900 from the raffle alone. I can't believe we raised almost £1,300. I am in total shock, it's amazing really."

"It was really hard for me to do it as we lost Jake earlier this year and he's left a huge hole but he must be smiling from ear to ear. He was a big believer in helping others."

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Jake, a former Harlow Rugby youth player, was diagnosed with the disease only after becoming the victim of an assault.

Hodgkin Lymphoma is a type of cancer of the lymphatic system - one of the body's natural defences against infection and disease. The disease can start in any part of the body.

Tracey, who had never heard of lymphoma before Jake's death, said: "He was in hospital after being beaten up and within weeks he had died. It was horrific. We didn't have a clue what was going on with him. We later found out he had Hodgkin's Lymphoma."

"I emailed the Lymphoma Association and within a day they had sent me a two-page email back. I cannot explain what losing a child feels like but that meant an awful lot to me."

"£25 enables them to help support five families by being on the end of the phone or by email. That means a lot."

READERS LETTERS

Council's consultation fails to address the real issues

SIR The letter from Cllr Tony Durcan in which he describes Mike Carr's letter as "bile enriched" and accuses him of making cheap shots at staff (Star, September 11) illustrates once again the council's inability to listen, let alone respond appropriately, to criticism.

I have read and reread Mr Carr's letter and find that in reality it did no such thing but rather simply challenged the management structures and pointed out that the recent consultation was "not a measure of agreement on the level of services and customer care that the council should be providing or what residents needs are".

He is quite correct; the consultation fails to address the real issues. It will not provide the right answers because it doesn't ask the right questions. It simply divides residents by suggesting choices as to where cuts could be made. It makes basic assumptions which should themselves be challenged.

Cllr Durcan's letter attempts to divert attention from these matters and to simply seek acknowledgement that the council has done some good things. Of course they have - with the budget they operate it would be virtually impossible not to do some good. But that is not the issue, nor should it be used to misrepresent someone who for some years has been trying voluntarily with the council to improve council services.

My own concern lies in the general disaffection with the council, illustrated by the two-thirds of the electorate who did not bother to vote. The new council leader promised involvement and transparency, but it appears he will have little chance of achieving it.

More astonishing is the fact that the head of housing has written to Mr Carr following publication of his letter in the Star and has ordered it to be "investigated further and if the allegations made by you amount to defamatory actions the council will take further advice on whether to look into this".

It seems it is OK for councillors and officers to use their powers to defend the council but inappropriate for those representing tenants and residents to challenge it. What sort of consultation and public participation is this?

Willowfield, Harlow

It's time to crackdown on selfish pavement parkers

SIR I would like to know who is responsible for stopping vehicles parking on pavements.

I live in a narrow turning where parking is a problem, but many residents have taken to parking their vehicles completely on the pavement, forcing pedestrians and other users into the road.

It's not a case of half on and half off the pavement, it is completely blocking the footway. Dropped kerbs have no meaning to these inconsiderate people.

I have asked on numerous occasions for the council to take action against these drivers or display signs of no parking but their response is negative or I have been completely ignored.

They blame Essex Highways and Essex Highways blame the council. Meanwhile, the owners of these vehicles think that because they live in a particular house they have a right to park outside regardless. Is it too much to ask them to park 50 yards down the road and walk to their house?

I have furnished the council with photographs identifying the offending vehicles but to no avail.

We all know the parking in Harlow is a nightmare but pavements are for pedestrians and not for cars. If pedestrians were to completely block the roads by walking down them I am sure the drivers would have something to say about that.

name and address supplied

Will these police be able to punish motoring offenders?

SIR In response to the report stating that we will have more police on the streets, will they have the authority to hand out parking tickets for motoring offences?

At the moment we have pavement cyclists, parking on the footpaths, and large vans parking on paths against the flow of traffic at night without lights.

All these and more offences are in the Highway Code so this is nothing new.

name and address supplied

Great night out was spoiled by a £4 car parking charge

SIR, I returned to my car in the Harvey Centre car park after an evening out at The Playhouse on Saturday in high spirits after a great performance from The Bee Gees tribute, only to find that at 10.15pm the barriers were down.

After joining a long queue - it had been a sellout at the Playhouse - we were among the poor saps having to fork out £4 for the pleasure of parking.

I don't expect something for nothing but on the other hand if you are going to The Playhouse, the Harvey Centre is the nearest car park. I find it extortionate to be expected to pay hourly parking charges in addition to the cost of theatre tickets.

I realise this car park is open 24 hours but the shops in the centre are not open at that time so the most likely customers are going to be from the theatre.

I will have to consider the extra outlay next time I want to see a show and maybe not go as often.

Town has changed over the years and not for the better

SIR We recently visited Harlow for the first time in many years. How disappointed we were.

The grass verge at the northbound exit from the M11 was covered with rubbish which looked as though it had been there for a long time. It gave a very poor first impression.

When we got to The High it was even worse. It seemed to be filled with cheap, garish shops with poorly designed fronts which is such a contrast to the well-designed shopfronts of years ago.

And then there's the Market Square - which seems now to be just a square! I can see why the giant flowerpots are so disliked; all the trees in them seemed to be poorly cared for and looked dead.

I am old enough to remember the original crowded and busy market. Why was it allowed to fall into such a poor state? There were colourful market stalls which were taken away at the end of every day and lovely trees that were originally planted at the edge of the square.

What went wrong and when did it happen?

name and address supplied

Powerless to prevent this type of behaviour

SIR I would like to record my disappointment at the Police and Crime Commissioner's meeting held in Harlow on Wednesday.

It would seem that the powers-that-be can do nothing to prevent travellers from parking in our town so we, the law-abiding citizens, have to put up with the rubbish, rubble, tree cuttings and human excrement they deposit on a daily basis.

It seems the locals have no rights and the travellers can do whatever they want. It is the trouble and mess they bring that people do not want. This is why they anger the residents; they do not try to fit in.

Please can we have some new laws which prevent this type of behaviour.

Cllr David Carter (Conservative)
Great Parndon, Harlow

It's my duty to help anyone who faces discrimination

SIR May I point out that Conservative councillors got their facts wrong when they kept insisting I visited the Travellers in my role as a councillor.

In fact I went to the former Passmores School site as chair of Harlow TUC. As a trades union activist it's my duty to help anyone who is being discriminated against.

I don't only fight for Travellers' rights but, over the years, I have done a lot of campaigning on the NHS, workers' rights, benefit justice and many more.

So far I have not received any emails or telephone calls from residents in Nettleswell ward about any issue in regards to Travellers. If I did I would have helped them without prejudice.

If helping people is a crime then I am guilty as charged, but all these accusations will not stop me doing what I do.

Cllr Waida Forman (Labour)
chair, Harlow TUC

An utter disgrace promises about housing were broken

SIR Back in the 1950s when Harlow was built, people were encouraged to move here with the promise that there would be affordable council housing for their children and their children's children.

Both sets of my grandparents moved here in the 1950s and my grandmother still lives here at the age of 90. But the rest of my grandparents must be turning in their graves due to the fact that the promise of housing has been broken.

It is an utter disgrace. It should be law that promises such as these should not be broken. I am 40. I am still waiting on the housing list and living with my pensioner parents. In fact, I am thinking about joining the travellers and living in a caravan while I wait to be housed.

Harlow Council cannot even deal with the traveller situation, let alone house the people whose birthright it is to be housed. So, really, none of us have a chance in hell.

Clare Harrison
Katherines, Harlow

Seeking answers to settle swimming pool argument

SIR I wonder if any of your readers could settle an argument?

When Harlow's swimming pool opened in 1961, did it have a full set of diving boards and was it a 50-metre pool? I remember it changed to tubes and then a smaller length pool with no diving boards and a splash pool.

Please could someone enlighten me.

No simple solution to encampments makers to improve the legislative framework and speak to council chief executives about the need for permanent and transit traveller sites across Essex.

He also said he would look to establish if existing sites are fully utilised and, if not, explore how this can be changed as well as improving communication with the travelling community and continue to support the prosecution of those responsible for flytipping and littering.

Writing in his column in this week's Star, Mr Halfon has called on the police and authorities to adopt a zero tolerance approach rather than an inconsistent use of the laws available to deal with this problem.

Referring to Mr Alston, he said: "He recognised this problem was an important priority. Given that he was left in no doubt as to the anger of residents, he will be judged on his actions and not just his words."

Meanwhile, an online petition started by Mr Halfon calling for action to tackle illegal encampments has been signed by more than 900 people.

Paramedic took suit of armour from museum

A DEPRESSED paramedic stole a replica suit of armour from the Museum of Harlow as part of a £9,000 crime spree at four museums.

Chelmsford Crown Court was told Daniel Johnson, 33, carried out the raids to make himself feel "important".

His haul also included a Napoleonic handaxe and replica arms. All the items have since been recovered.

Johnson, from Takely, was charged after walking into a police station to confess what he had done. He pleaded guilty to three thefts and one burglary, all of which took place in March this year.

He was made the subject of a six-month community order with a condition that he is supervised for six months and spends 15 days on an intensive monitoring programme. He was also ordered to pay £615 costs.

Marc Brown, prosecuting, told the court that Johnson visited Maldon Combined Services Museum on March 13, arriving 30 minutes before it closed. Next morning staff discovered an original Napoleonic handaxe worth £400 was missing, along with a replica chainmail hood valued at £150, a replica pig-face helmet worth £200 and another replica open-face helmet worth £150.

CCTV showed Johnson arriving with an empty bag and leaving with a full holdall.

Three days later there was a burglary at Stansted Mountfitchet Castle. A fence designed to keep deer in the grounds had been cut and part of a wall was damaged.

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Replica armour and arms valued at £6,900 were removed from the grand hall and armoury. Some of the haul was found stacked on the ground near the replica blacksmith's area, the court heard.

On March 18 Johnson, wearing his paramedic uniform, walked into a police station and admitted the Maldon and Stansted raids. He also confessed to stealing a replica Roman suit of armour worth £1,000 from the Museum of Harlow on March 14 and a replica chastity belt, scold's bridle and thumbscrews from The Clink Prison Museum in Southwark, on the same date.

Stephen Levy, representing Johnson, said in mitigation his client found it difficult to understand how he had got himself into the position.

"There seems to have been some serious mental health issues with regard to depression and how he was reflecting on his life around that time which made him feel important, strengthened or otherwise," he said.

Passing sentence, recorder Adrian Williamson told Johnson: "These are serious matters, not only of dishonesty but because these museums are providing a service to the public and you made it much more difficult for them."

Inbetweeners star Joe joins YCT for farewell to director

ACTOR Joe Thomas joined Young Concern Trust staff, board members and friends to say goodbye and wish good luck to the charity's director.

The Inbetweeners star, who is also patron of YCT, attended a celebration of director Robert Locke's seven-and-a-half years with the charity.

YCT, which was established 27 years ago, provides support and counselling for young people in Harlow with a wide range of issues.

Mr Locke is leaving to take up a new role as director of Essex Council for Voluntary Youth Services.

YCT operational manager Sally Gubb said: "It was a really successful event and it got quite emotional."

"We are all extremely sorry to see Rob go and we all miss him very much."

"We had lots of partners, past and present, as well as Joe and some people we have worked with here."

She added: "Rob has been with YCT for seven and a half years and, as our chairperson said on the evening, he has transformed the organisation beyond what could be expected."

"We now deliver more than 200 hours of counselling a week and a lot of that is down to Rob and a great team in the office and a great team of counsellors."

"YCT is on an up and has the capacity to expand our services even further. Rob has left behind a great legacy that we will continue."

Commissioner rules out a return of police authorities

ESSEX crime tsar Nick Alston has defended the role of the country's Police and Crime Commissioners following the recent scandal involving his counterpart in Rotherham.

In a statement issued on Monday, Mr Alston said PCCs are delivering better scrutiny of police forces.

"Police and Crime Commissioners are elected by local people and are closely in touch with them," he said. "They will be directly answerable to local electors at the ballot box in exactly the same fashion as MPs."

"It would be a backward step to return to the era of invisible, unelected police authorities during which so many failures of police leadership occurred without any meaningful oversight."

His comments follow the resignation of Shaun Wright, who had been elected as the PCC in South Yorkshire but who had come under increasing pressure to step down after it emerged he had been the councillor responsible for children's services in the area from 2005 to 2010, during the period of widespread child sexual exploitation in the area.

Mr Alston, who is chairman of the Association of Police and Crime Commissioners, said: "All PCCs are committed to working with this Government and with the government following the General Election to ensure that victims are supported, communities are kept safe, and most importantly that police forces are challenged and supported to transform into the modern efficient organisations they need to be."

ONE of the first pupils to attend St Mark's West Essex Catholic School's is hoping to drum up support for a school reunion.

Dorothy Fisher, 59, who grew up in Brays Mead and now lives in Dublin, is hoping to get in touch with fellow pupils who attended the school for a 50th anniversary reunion next year.

St Mark's opened in 1965 to first and second year students.

Ms Fisher recalled: "I remember my first day in the school, it was very exciting.

"It was a really beautiful school, large and ultra-modern, even looking back now the facilities were amazing, there was state of the art classes including science labs, typing pools, domestic science rooms, art rooms, and an animal shed which housed small animals including, chickens, mice, rabbits, and hamsters.

"I only have fond memories of my time in St Mark's, I made lovely friends but alas lost touch with them as the years rolled on."

The opening was a big day for the town with the local paper, the Harlow Gazette, attending.

Before joining St Mark's, Ms Fisher attended Holy Cross Primary School in 1960.

"I remember the excitement of the new comprehensive school being built," she said. "During the build there were prefabs on the grounds of Holy Cross school that housed the first year

"Each year was divided into four Houses: Elgar, Knox, Moor and Newman. I was in Knox house.

"I remember my summer uniform was a pink and white gingham dress and the winter uniform was grey skirt, grey jumper and red and white

At the time, the headmaster was Mr O'Shea and the headmistress was Ms Jeffries, someone Ms Fisher described as "a very glamorous lady".

"There was also Mr Bob Wilson," Ms Fisher added. "He was a math teacher, all the girls liked Bob."

Ms Fisher is in touch with fellow student Barry Newman who was in the year above. Although he lives in California he said he would travel back to Harlow for a reunion.

Kathleen Horton, 78, spotted her father, Sam Whitbread, in the photo (top row, second from left).

"I was born in Potter Street in 1936, I was only a little child in the war but I know he was in the home guard throughout it," she said.

"My mum was called Queenie Whitbread.

She had seven children and she worked odd jobs. My dad worked on a farm, he could turn his hand at anything but he worked on that farm for years."

Kathleen Smith, 60, also spotted her grandfather, Arthur Mealing, (second row, fourth from right).

She said: "My grandfather was born and bred in the area and my mother was born in Potter Street and I've lived in Rye Hill since I was a child but I recognised him straight away."

Employees left homeless after closure of hotel

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

STAFF at the Swallow Churchgate Hotel in Old Harlow were told to vacate the premises with less than a week's notice.

A meeting was called by administrators Deloitte to tell employees that the hotel, which has been put into administration, had been sold and that all staff had been made redundant.

A further meeting was held on Wednesday, September 17 during which staff who live at the hotel, in Churchgate Street, were told they must leave their rooms and the premises by 3pm the next day.

Staff were required to work their full shifts up until the hotel's closure on September 18.

One employee, who was working until 11pm the night before and lived in staff accommodation, said: "We haven't had a chance to look for new places to live."

"We have been working right up until our last shift. Some people had to work that morning and late the night before. Then, when we are not needed, we are left out."

Ian Ward, 44, who has worked at the hotel for five years and lived on the premises for four, said some members of staff had nowhere to go.

"We had a meeting on August 26 with Deloitte saying they had to inform us of possible redundancy but it would not be before September 18, if it did happen. It was the first we had heard of it and that was it. It was only a possibility then so nobody thought to look for new work or homes."

"It was on Monday (September 15) that we were told the hotel has been sold and we have been made redundant."

"We were told we would be expected to leave by Thursday, so that's four days' notice."

"Everybody has had to work full shifts of course and live-in staff have only been able to start looking for somewhere to live since Monday when we were told."

Staff said they were told that security would be

STAFF and guests have been left reeling after the shock closure of one of Harlow's oldest hotels.

Around 30 jobs will be lost following the closure of the Swallow Churchgate Hotel, as well as untold disruption caused for bookings, including major events and weddings.

Hotel staff, many of whom live at the landmark 85-bedroom three-star hotel in Old Harlow, have been told they must pack up and leave by today (Thursday).

Many of the staff - including front desk, kitchen, housekeeping, maintenance and porters - have worked at the hotel for several years.

Mr Ward added: "Some employees have worked here 20 years. A lot of us now have no work and nowhere to live right now."

Harlow MP Robert Halfon, who has been in touch with staff since hearing of the hotel's closure, was refused entry to a meeting which was held on Thursday at the hotel.

The meeting was organised by Deloitte for staff. When Mr Halfon tried to join he was told he was not allowed to enter.

Mr Halfon said: "I am really unhappy with the treatment of staff and I have complained to Deloitte about the consultation process though they say they have done everything by the book."

"Staff who worked there for years were treated like meat. I think it is disgusting how staff have been treated."

"I think the Government need to do a serious review about how long-term workers are treated."

Supermarket's donation to Salvation Army

STAFF and volunteers at The Salvation Army received a huge donation of food from new supermarket Aldi.

The First Avenue store, which opened in July, donated a range of different food products.

The donation will be used to make 20 food parcels that will be distributed by The Salvation Army, based in Tendring Road, to residents.

Aldi area manager Joshua Mills is pictured presenting the donation to centre co-ordinator Lorraine Fox and Major Glenda Holfield.

Mr Mills said: "The Salvation Army in Harlow is integral to helping people within the local community. It's a fantastic organisation that does a lot."

"Their work is incredibly valued by the whole Harlow community and we are pleased to donate supplies for the centre's food parcels."

"We hope we can continue our work within the local community in the future and very much look forward to doing so."

Lois' haircut raises thousands for charity

A SEVEN-year-old has raised more than £1,700 for the Little Princess Trust after cutting her long hair and selling bows at her local hairdresser.

Lois Groom, of Sawbridgeworth, had her hair cut by hairdresser Laura Ryan at All About Hair, in Latton Bush Centre, Harlow.

The youngster donated her hair to the Little Princess Trust, who make real-hair wigs for children who have lost their hair due to treatment.

Lois' mum, Dawn, 39, said: "She will be undergoing surgery for a hearing implant and will have part of her hair shaved so it was a good chance to raise money for a good cause.

"She's always had long hair but she was excited to have it cut. We wanted to raise £700 which would pay for two wigs so to have raised £1,700 is amazing."

All About Hair are also selling hair bows to further boost Lois' total.

Mums to start £4k hospital fundraiser with a curry night

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

TWO mothers are hoping to buy a piece of equipment for Princess Alexandra Hospital in Harlow after their children were treated there.

Sara Evans, 43, and Denise Handleigh, 31, are hoping to raise enough cash to buy an accuvein vein viewing system which helps hospital staff locate a vein for medical procedures.

The equipment is used across the country, mostly for children diagnosed with cancer.

Both Sara, of Windmill Fields, and Denise, of Little Pynchons, are hoping they can raise enough money to buy the equipment which will "be a huge help to hundreds of children and their families across the area".

The vein finder was trialled on the hospital's Dolphin Ward but could not be funded for permanent use.

Sara's four-year-old daughter Evie has Down's Syndrome and some medical complications.

The mum-of-three said: "Denise's son Stanley was extremely premature and has spent time at NICU in Harlow and I've had copious experience of hospitals with Evie.

"Both our children have suffered extreme trauma and stress when being cannulated. This piece of equipment, which has been trialled on Dolphin Ward, takes away this stress by identifying which would be a good vein to cannulate, which alleviates the stress and pain that is involved.

"It's something that's so simple but so effective. It's currently being used extensively in children with cancer."

The pair need to raise £4,000 and their first fundraising event will be a comedy and curry night at the Garden of India in Bush Fair on October 4.

Tickets cost £25. To book, contact Sara at sara.r.evans71@gmail.com or Denise at denisehandleigh@gmail.com. To donate, visit www.justgiving.com/accuveinfinder.

Pair collect for Parkinsons UK

TWO Harlow volunteers gave up their time to raise funds and awareness for the Parkinsons UK Harlow group.

After the group were chosen by Asda as one of the three charities for the supermarket's green token competition, Tony Wells and David West spent full days at the store to promote the group's work.

The Harlow group also gained the most tokens from shoppers and was awarded £200.

Asda community champion Rachel Forth said: "The guys, who both have Parkinsons, were fantastic as they are so passionate and are always fundraising for their group.

"They both deserve recognition for what they do, I have so much admiration for them."

Open day at cat rescue centre

CHESTNUT Cat Sanctuary will be holding an open day in the hope of finding new homes for its cats and kittens.

The free event will also be raising money for the centre - which is often working full to capacity - through the sale of refreshments, and homemade cakes.

The centre's staff and volunteers will be on hand to offer advice and answer questions about adopting a cat or kitten.

A raffle will also be held to further boost the day's fundraising total.

The open day will be held at the sanctuary in High Road, Epping, on Saturday from 11am-2pm.

Raising pounds by losing weight

TWIN sisters Melanie Cuthbert and Joanne Murphy are hoping to raise money for Ava's Pink Quest while helping residents get healthy and lose weight.

The sisters are hosting their second community weight loss challenge where each week participants are taught about nutrition and healthy living in a 12-week programme.

Melanie said: "Usually we would have a first, second and third prize but we've decided to just have a prize for the biggest loser and then make a donation to Ava's Pink Quest. We wanted to help and raise money."

Ava's Pink Quest raises money for Children's Cancer and Leukaemia Group.

Anyone can join the weight-loss group up until week six of the challenge. For more information contact Melanie on 07855 324449.

Lottery winner

THE winner of the £1,000 first prize in the St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday, September 19 was ticketholder 782430, who lives in Saffron Walden.

The rollover prize was not won and will go forward to tomorrow's (Friday) draw when it will be £4,200.

Charities share £10.5k in foundation's cash giveaway

A CHARITY helping the homeless and a performing arts group have received unexpected cash windfalls.

Grants totalling almost £10,500 have been awarded to Razed Roof and Streets2Homes by Harlow Recreation Trust, one of 100 named charitable funds managed by Essex Community Foundation.

Razed Roof, the inclusive drama group based at Harlow Playhouse, received £9,600 to run out-of-school activities for young people.

Artistic director Annette Lidster said: "We have linked with other organisations and charities to run activities for young people in a theatre workshop environment.

"This has enabled them to develop their self-confidence and social skills and has helped promote a sense of independence, while their parents or carers have some time for themselves and others in the family.

"Our participants really got the taste for acting so our first performance was for friends and family. We also organised some exciting trips to the theatre which for some of our young people was their first visit – and they loved it."

Streets2Homes, which works to get homeless people off the streets and into accommodation and jobs, received £865 to provide arts and crafts sessions for those who attend its Wych Elm centre. The sessions included drawing, painting, modelling and card making.

Manager Kerrie Eastman said: "Many of those who have taken part have discovered hidden talents and a positive way to express their feelings through art. The project has been so successful in providing clients with something constructive and creative to take part in, exploring and growing new interests and talents."

She added: "The arts and crafts project has had a real impact on the general wellbeing of the clients who took part. Many have grown in confidence, found a positive way to express their feelings and have found they have a creative side to them.

"The project has also helped create a safe and friendly environment to develop and build positive relationships."

As well as the Harlow Recreation Trust, Essex Community Foundation manages the Harlow Education Trust which has awarded a grant of £5,000 to the Firebreak project run by Essex County and Fire Rescue Service to help vulnerable people work as a team and consider the consequences of any actions they may take.

Through the Essex Community Foundation, the Harlow Recreation Trust has distributed £105,000 to projects supporting the development of recreational skills, knowledge and talent while the Harlow Education Trust has distributed £38,125 to organisations which advance the educational skills of young people.

Coping with Bereavement

Give yourself time to grieve after death of a loved one

GRIEF is a very personal thing and there is no right or wrong way to react when we lose someone close to us.

Coping with bereavement is one of life's major challenges. The death of someone close to us can rock the foundations that hold our lives together, leaving us feeling desperately sad, lost and abandoned.

Planning and talking about death doesn't come easy for most of us but realistically, death is a part of life. It's something that we all experience—the loss of those we know and love, and ultimately, our own death.

Ignoring death or denying its existence doesn't make it go away and if we avoid planning for it, it doesn't really help anybody.

When death does come, being unprepared can make the experience a lot more challenging, both for ourselves and for those we leave behind. In fact, once you've prepared for death, you may even feel a new sense of freedom and a resolve to live every day of your life to the fullest.

One thing is certain - as painful as it is, you are not alone and it can help to know that others feel the same way in similar circumstances.

At first some people may find it very hard to accept or understand the death of a loved one. Some feel so shocked that they cannot accept that the person has died at all and even deny it is true.

Anger is another common emotion. One question many people ask is "why me"? You may think it unfair that someone close to you has died. This can make you feel very angry with everything and everyone - maybe even the person who has died and left you.

Perhaps you feel guilty for not doing certain things with your relative or friend before they died or remember all the times you felt you did or said the wrong thing to them. Again, this is just a natural part of the grieving process.

It is natural to feel depressed for some time after a death of someone close, but if these feelings continue for several months you may need help. Counselling, therapy or medication can help you to take interest in life again and find things that you enjoy doing.

How long people grieve for is a very individual thing. It may be months or even years, but it won't always be so intense.

Give yourself time to heal. The most important part of healing is to acknowledge that you are grieving. Two things that help the most with grief are time and support. You can't force yourself to feel better.

Eventually you will be able to think about the person who died and it won't be as painful. You will start to feel like planning ahead and looking forward to more good times.

This doesn't mean in any way that you have less feeling for the person who has died. You will always remember and love them for what you shared together. And they wouldn't want your life to come to a standstill or for you to feel sad for ever.

No-one ever wants to organise a funeral but when the inevitable happens it is reassuring to know that there are experts who can make the process as easy as possible at what can be a very upsetting time.

Your local funeral director will tailor a funeral service to meet you and your family's wishes and help guide you through the process. Some of the best local experts are featured here.

European market to offer flavours
of the continent

SHOPPERS in Harlow will be able to enjoy a taste of continental cuisine without leaving the town. A traditional European food and craft fair will be coming to Market Square next Thursday (October 2) until Saturday. As well as food there will also be stalls selling bags and leather items, soaps, lavender, children's toy and pashminas. Most of the products on sale will come from each stall holder's region, where they are produced by small organisations including family businesses, farms or small factories using traditional methods. All of the traders will also be wearing traditional local costumes and decorating their stalls to represent the regions from where they come. Market organiser Olivier Simonin said: "We have professional continental market traders from France, Belgium, Italy, Spain, Holland, Poland and many more selling high quality products including Brittany biscuits, olives, Italian nougat, delectable cheeses, sausages, tartiflette [a cheese and potatoes dish from the Alps], charcuterie, fresh bread and croissants. "For those with a sweet tooth there will also be delicious freshly made crepes. "There will be something for everyone and the market will provide shoppers with a true flavour of the continent."

Paul revs up for coffee and cake fundraiser

BIKER Paul Knight will be swapping his leathers for a pinny when he holds a coffee and cake day in aid of St Clare Hospice. Paul will be teaming up with North Weald Motorcycles - which is hosting Saturday's fundraiser in memory of close friend Ron Morgan, who died from cancer. He will be offering a selection of freshly baked cakes and other treats and there will also be stalls, children's activities and a raffle. Mike Regan, who owns North Weald Motorcycles in High Road, agreed to provide the venue as his father Ted was cared for at the hospice. He has invited about 200 of his customers. The fundraiser, which takes place from 9am-5pm, is being supported by several other local businesses including Wings Cafe, Hocking's Butchers and Sue's Flowers.

A MAN given a suspended prison sentence last year for a knife crime has been jailed for 16 months after pleading guilty to further offences. Chelmsford Crown Court was told Daniel Hampton, 25, of Milwards, Harlow, brandished a bread knife at a man and then chased and assaulted his own partner after she tried to defuse the situation. Hampton admitted having a bladed article, assault by beating and breaching the suspended sentence imposed in September last year. Peter Gair, prosecuting, told the court said: "There was an incident in the area of Potters Field on August 27. A resident was returning to the parking area and saw Hampton carrying a red handled bread knife. "She saw him waving the knife at a man who was minding his own business. Hampton's partner approached him and defused the situation." However, the court was told that Hampton then chased her and punched her in the face before threatening her with the knife. Kevin Walsh, representing Hampton, said the offences occurred after he had been beaten up and was in a "drunken stupor". "It was a nasty and unpleasant offence but the real cause of his offending is drink," said Mr Walsh. "He has been receiving treatment in prison for alcohol and is going to Alcoholics Anonymous when he is released." Judge David Turner sentenced Hampton to 12 months for the assault, one month concurrent for brandishing the knife and four months consecutive for breaching the previous suspended sentence. He told the defendant: "You were seen to be brandishing a knife aggressively in the street and then towards your own partner. Carrying knives in that sort of context is a disaster waiting to happen. "Your partner suffered a frightening experience. You held the knife to her throat and punched her; it was shameful and bullying. "The carrying of knives is a matter of enormous public concern. People who carry knives are treated severely by the courts."

Man set fire to a newspaper after row with partner

A MAN deliberately set fire to a newspaper at his mother's flat after his girlfriend called him a "psycho", a court heard. Kyle Bauma, 20, of Spinning Wheel Mead, Harlow, was given a three-year community order after he pleaded guilty to a charge of arson.

Peter Gair, prosecuting at Chelmsford Crown Court, said a police officer answering a 999 call attended the flat and saw a burned newspaper and smoke in the room.

When Bauma was arrested a few days later he said he had lost his temper after his girlfriend had called him a psycho when they were talking about breaking up.

"That was when he committed the offence," said Mr Gair. "It only lasted about 30 seconds before he put out the flames."

Peter Walsh, representing Bauma, said in mitigation: "He tried to set fire to a rug using an accelerant but only the newspaper caught light. He realised what he'd done and stamped it out."

Bauma was ordered to remain under supervision for three years, attend a Thinking Skills programme and co-operate and attend appointments with the Harlow Community Mental Health team.

PAH urges parents to think twice before heading to children's unit

Couple presented with keys to their new Cactus

THE proud owners of the first Citroen Cactus to be sold by Harlow car dealership Motorsales were presented with the keys to their new car on Saturday.

Rene and Denise Nemitz were invited along to the company's Burnt Mill showroom in Elizabeth Way for the handover.

The Cactus follows the French company's flair for quirky and individual design.

"Just when crossover vehicles had become so popular that they had moved from the edgy alternative to a family hatch, Citroen has shaken things up," said a spokesman for Motorsales.

"The C4 Cactus might be a bit too much for a middle-aged school run mum but I think many others are going to find it to their liking."

Mr and Mrs Nemitz are pictured receiving their keys from sales executive Paul Green.

MEDICAL staff working in the new children's emergency department at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital have urged parents to think twice before taking their youngsters there as demand for the service rockets.

The department, which opened last Monday, has reported a steep rise in attendances during the past week.

However, many of the cases were not classed as emergencies and were instead for common illnesses and complaints such as coughs, colds, high temperatures, croup, diarrhoea, vomiting and abdominal pain.

Professor Nancy Fontaine, chief nurse at The Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust, said: "The emergency department remains the place for seriously injured and seriously ill people."

"Our children's facilities are for those who need them urgently and we are asking parents and carers to consider if it is the right place to bring their child or whether they can get the help they need from alternative services first."

She added: "The pharmacist is a good place to go for early advice on a range of childhood illnesses, including management and

medicines. If your child needs more support your GP will be able to make a referral to the community nursing team and NHS 111 is there to provide 24-hour advice and information."

The children's unit has been set up in a separate building next to the hospital's main A&E department and treats youngsters up to the age of 16.

It has twice the number of assessment and treatment bays and a designated high-dependency bay as well as space to house new state-of-the-art equipment including a resuscitation trolley and a defibrillator. Each cubicle has piped air and oxygen.

It is open seven days a week from 8am-midnight.

Dr Sue Humphrey, GP and clinical lead for the NHS West Essex Clinical Commissioning Group, added: "Parents and carers naturally worry when their child becomes unwell. Many children experience common illnesses at this time of year such as coughs, colds and fever."

"The emergency department is for urgent cases only."

The charity offering a counselling lifeline

GEMMA GARDNER

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

ONE in five people suffering from depression or anxiety are waiting more than a year to access psychological therapies such as counselling.

These are the findings of a new report by mental health charity Mind for the We Need to Talk coalition, which calls on the Government to fulfil its promise to make psychological therapies available across the country to people who need them.

The report found that the Improving Access to Psychological Therapies (IAPT) scheme has had a dramatic impact on waiting times for people with depression and anxiety, with one in five people in England waiting more than a year. For one in 10 people the wait was more than two years.

This is despite respondents to Mind's survey reporting that access to the right therapy at the right time had a significant impact on their ability to return to work.

But one charity is trying to make a difference in Harlow by offering residents access to a counsellor within one to two weeks of an initial counselling assessment.

The CALM Centre, based at the Latton Bush Centre, is a long-established charity which provides a professional counselling service to people within the town.

A spokeswoman for the charity said: "People who come to us sometimes have a jigsaw of problems that may be deep-rooted and extremely traumatic making it difficult, if not impossible, to tackle alone.

"Other problems may be more straightforward to work through - all are welcome at the CALM Centre.

"Our inclusive counselling service works

“Having to wait for therapy and not getting the help I needed nearly caused me to lose my life”

with clients towards resolving their issues with the assistance of a trained professional without fear of being judged."

Jenny has bipolar disorder and also developed post-traumatic stress disorder after the birth of her son.

Whilst waiting for therapy she tried to take her own life and ended up on a psychiatric mother and baby unit where she received the help she needed, but this stopped when she left hospital.

Jenny did eventually receive cognitive behavioural therapy but did not feel this dealt with her PTSD. She has recently been told she will have to wait another twelve months before she receives the psychotherapy she needs.

"Having to wait for therapy and not getting the help I needed nearly caused me to lose my life," she said.

"It exacerbated the despair and it exacerbated the hopelessness I was feeling. I didn't bond with my son for 10 months and I feel so sad that I've lost that early part of his life.

"I've lost a year and a half of my own life, I've had to give up a job and a career that I loved and I've had to give up my financial stability now that I'm on benefits.

"I just don't feel like myself anymore - to be honest I wouldn't know how to introduce myself to new people. If I lived just one county next door I'd have all the support I need. It's just not on offer where I live."

The Calm Centre says it will never turn a client away irrespective of where they live.

Mental distress costs the economy in England more than £105bn each year and talking treatments have been shown to be a successful and cost effective way to treat a wide range of mental and physical health problems.

Last year, researchers from the World Health Organisation said depression was the biggest cause of disability worldwide after back pain, but was often overlooked by doctors, with only a fraction of patients being offered treatment.

And only last week, the chief medical officer Professor Dame Sally Davies called for workers with depression to be fast tracked for treatment ahead of the old and unemployed. She said the working days lost when men and women are off sick with mental health issues cost the economy £100bn a year.

Mind chief executive Paul Farmer said: "The Government has made a commitment to choice in its health White Paper and a promise to improve access to talking therapies. The upcoming Comprehensive Spending Review is their opportunity to demonstrate that they are serious about both."

>>The Calm Centre offer confidential and professional Talking Therapies to transform lives. To contact the centre visit www.calmcentre.co.uk or call (01279) 411330.

IF YOU CAN ANSWER 'YES' TO THESE STATEMENTS...

...YOU COULD BE ELIGIBLE
FOR A DISCOUNT OF UP TO £77,000

Council and housing association tenants

Are you up to date with Right to Buy?

Right to Buy is the scheme that helps eligible council and housing association tenants buy their home by offering a discount on the purchase price.

Since 2012 the discounts available have increased and the rates have recently risen again. The new top cash discounts are £77,000 in England, and £102,700 if you live in London. Each year the discount will increase at the rate of inflation.

In addition, eligible tenants can now get up to 70% off the cost of their house – the same maximum percentage discount as for flats.

Since the scheme was refreshed in April 2012 more than 22,500 people in England have become homeowners through the Right to Buy scheme. Could this be the right time for you – or somebody you know – to join them?

Home ownership is not the right choice for everyone and potential owners need to be sure they can afford it. However home ownership brings many benefits - a sense of pride, freedom to make changes and an investment for the future.

All additional purchases through the Right to Buy scheme go straight into building new affordable housing for hardworking people locally.

Who qualifies for the Right to Buy?

Tenants are likely to be eligible to buy their current home if they can answer 'yes' to the following questions:

- Are you currently a council tenant, or were you living in your home when the council transferred it to another landlord (housing association)?
- Have you been a council or housing association tenant for 5 years or more?
- Can you confirm that you do not live in sheltered housing or other housing designed for elderly or disabled people?

In addition, tenants need to be free from legal problems with debt or outstanding possession orders, and their home isn't due to be demolished.

If you don't qualify at the moment, keep an eye on news about Right to Buy as the Government is hoping to make further changes to eligibility in 2015.

What to do next

To find out more about buying your home and whether you are eligible for a discount through Right to Buy, visit www.communities.gov.uk/therighttobuy.

There is an easy-to-use calculator to help you work out if you can afford to buy and lots of practical tips about the buying process.

If you decide to go ahead you will need to fill in the application form and take the process forward with your landlord.

Support from start to finish

The Government's new Right to Buy Agent service offers free and impartial advice on Right to Buy. If you decide that home ownership is the right choice for you, the advisers at the service will help you through the process from applying to completing. They can provide information on finding a mortgage, appointing a solicitor and arranging a survey.

If you are midway through buying and have a problem, get in touch with the Agent service and they can advise you.

The advisers are available from Monday to Friday, 8am until 6pm, on 0300 123 0913.

The affordable alternative to lure of pay day money lenders

HARLOW has the second highest rate of pay day loan stores to residents in the UK according to shocking statistics from the Bureau of Investigative Journalism.

Now, Labour's parliamentary hopeful, Suzy Stride is calling on residents to support the credit union HarlowSave in a bid to tackle the problem.

The survey conducted earlier this summer found that the town has the second highest density of pay day lenders given its population. There are six pay day loan stores in a town of 82,000 people.

Ms Stride said: "The proliferation of pay day lenders locally is a shocking example of how people on low incomes can be forced into credit traps."

Data collected by the Bureau of Investigative Journalism revealed that there is now one short-term loans store for every seven banks or building societies on the high street.

Campaigners have previously expressed

GEMMA GARDNER

concerns about the spread of short-term credit in deprived areas, likening the situation to the clustering of gambling shops.

HarlowSave was formed after four local credit unions merged in Harlow. It makes small loans to members using deposits, and is a safe alternative to pay day lenders such as Wonga, which charges a staggering 4,214 per cent APR on its loans.

Savers at HarlowSave must put away a minimum of £5 a week if waged or £2 a week if unwaged. It also operates a junior savers club to encourage under 18s to build a nest egg.

Ms Stride said: "Credit unions are the line of defence against pay day lenders who are preying on people in Harlow."

"Part of having a healthy thriving community is ensuring that people have healthy finances. Credit unions support people in making the right choices about their finances - as a community we need to get behind them.

"HarlowSave is a great example of local people coming together to combat pay day loan companies."

Ms Stride is encouraging people to support the co-operative as it "needs good savers and borrowers".

"A local cost of living crisis means that many people have turned to short-term lenders and high cost credit to make ends meet," she said.

"The financial burden in repaying inflated interest rates push some borrowers into extreme stress and depression as well as further financial hardship. HarlowSave is a fantastic way of stopping legal loan sharking."

Many councils across the country have grown increasingly concerned about the rapid spread of stores offering pay day loans and short-term lending.

As these shops do not have a distinct planning class of their own it has previously proved difficult for councils to control the spread of high-cost lending stores.

These authorities, including Harlow Council, are turning to powers known as an Article 4 Direction - normally used for heritage conservation - when they believe a development will have a negative effect on an area.

Normally, no planning permission is needed when a property is used for the same business, so banks can become loan shops because they are both in the same planning class - in this case, financial services.

But councils can challenge a change of use when it is between planning classes by using an Article 4 Direction. As such councils hope to prevent retail shops, pubs and restaurants from being converted to high-cost credit stores.

Worrying time for hedgehogs

NEW research has suggested that one of the most popular visitors to our gardens could be on the decline.

Hedgehogs were once a common sight but is feared that over the past few years their numbers could be dropping, as are other examples of British wildlife such as starlings and red squirrels.

Wildlife experts and volunteers set up hedgehog tunnels which they lined with sausages to attract the spiny creatures. In order to reach the food the hedgehogs had to walk over paper covered in ink, leaving behind their paw prints.

The results show evidence of hedgehog activity was found at just over a third of the sites studied.

It's the first time that researchers have been able to see where hedgehogs live with almost complete accuracy.

"Historically we thought that hedgehogs were pretty well distributed across the country," said Dr Richard Yarnell, a member of the team that carried out the research. "What's certainly clear now is that hedgehog populations seem to be quite local but not widely distributed across the countryside as we once suspected."

In the past, monitoring the little creatures precisely has proved difficult but the team think using ink to trace them is extremely accurate.

They hope studying hedgehogs in this way could reveal more about their decline and lead to more effective conservation to protect the population.

'Siege' of Harlow has cost taxpayers £40,000

Many of you will now have seen or been affected by the illegal encampments that have been set up around Harlow. The upset caused to local residents is simply unforgivable.

Although I have no direct power I am doing everything I can to push the relevant authorities into action. What we need from the police, and others, is a zero tolerance approach rather than an inconsistent use of the laws available to deal with this problem.

At a public meeting last week attended by many local residents, the county's police commissioner Nick Alston said he would put the law and their strategy on his website. He recognised this problem was an important priority. Given that he was left in no doubt as to the anger of residents, he will be judged on his actions and not just his words.

I am hugely grateful to the nearly 1,000 Harlow residents who have signed my petition to deal with this problem. When we reach an even more sizeable number of signatories I plan to present it to Parliament, the police and Harlow Council.

Finally, I would urge the council to apply for every grant available to deal with this problem.

According to a letter I received from the Government minister who came to Harlow to see the

By Harlow MP
Robert Halfon

encampments, it did not apply in time to receive a significant grant that would have helped.

We shouldn't forget that the siege that we are under has cost Harlow taxpayers over £40,000.

I would like to thank the hundreds of Harlow residents who joined with me in my campaign to stop excessive hospital car parking charges.

Some hospitals were charging patients over £500 per week to park on site. Patients with cancer and chronic diseases were often not getting any concessions and nurses were paying an average of £200 per month to park at work.

There has been some movement from the Government on this and the Department of Health recently released new guidelines that will cut costs for patients. NHS staff who have to use their cars to get to work will also benefit.

I welcome the Government's commitment to investment in the NHS. It has increased funding by £12.7bn and cut 19,000 managerial posts. This has allowed for over 3,300 new nurses and 7,000 new doctors to be employed since 2010.

Luckily, we have seen some of this good news in Harlow with investment in our A&E services, £427,000 for St Clare Hospice, and a brand new kidney dialysis unit at the PAH.

I was deeply saddened at the closure of the Swallow Churchgate Hotel in Old Harlow, and particularly unhappy at the treatment of the hardworking employees, some of whom had been there for over 25 years.

To me it is unacceptable that employees can be treated so callously by corporate vultures who may be going by the letter of the law but are not acting in the spirit of the law.

I have raised this issue with the Government and I believe that the business minister needs to look carefully at how workers are treated in these circumstances.

Workers who have given everything to their job, should receive proper notice and financial compensation for their service.

Although we have had some good news about jobs recently, (unemployment is down by 43 per cent since 2010 and youth unemployment is down by an incredible 56 per cent since its peak), I know it can be tough for local residents to find employment. That is why I recently hosted the third Harlow Jobs Fair.

It was a huge success, with more than 2,000 people attending and over 80 companies offering job vacancies.

I was very pleased to hear that many of these exhibitors had managed to find suitable candidates for their job openings. This is great news for Harlow and I am already looking forward to organising next year's event.

Report warns of looming crisis in social care and health systems

THE establishment of local health and care commissioners and more powers for health and wellbeing boards are among the proposals contained in a report published this week by Essex County Council.

The report, entitled A Shock To The System, contains a number of suggestions the council believes are necessary to ensure the survival of the health and social care system.

It argues that without "significant" action there will be a considerable funding gap and crisis in the system as it comes under increasing pressure caused largely by demographic changes.

ECC leader David Finch said: "Our health is the most valuable asset we have but the system that underpins our care is on the brink of crisis.

"Demand for care and support is going up but there is less money to pay for it and Essex, as an ageing county, will feel those pressures first.

"We are doing all we can to address issues locally but some of these problems need national solutions. The next Government must act immediately and decisively to take decisions that ensure the long-term survival of the health and social care systems."

In the report the council sets out five

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

recommendations it says future governments will need to implement in order to improve the current system: They are:

- A 10-year funding settlement for health and care that would allow the NHS and local government to plan for the long-term and shift spending to prevention rather than cure.

- Local health and wellbeing boards should hold budgets for health and social care and direct the commissioning of health and social care services. A health and wellbeing board should be chaired by a local health and care commissioner.

- The establishment of an independent commission to hold a national conversation about the future of health and social care and how it should be accessed and funded.

- Reform of the NHS tariff system to incentivise prevention and align financial incentives for providers with health and social care outcomes for individuals.

- The legal presumption to share data in order to provide integrated health and social services, with an individual right to opt out.

Join instant success of coffee fundraisers

BUSINESSES, schools and organisations across Harlow will be taking part in the world's biggest coffee morning in aid of Macmillan Cancer Support.

Tomorrow's (Friday) fundraiser will not only raise funds for the charity but also increase awareness of its work.

Among those taking part in Harlow are:

- Marks & Spencer in Broad Walk, which will be hosting an in-store bike ride challenge as well as a guess the weight of the cake, apple bobbing and guess the number of jelly beans in a jar. Activities will be taking place from 10am-4pm.

- Freshwaters Primary Academy, in School Lane, will be hosting a coffee morning from 10am-11.30am with parents and friends of the school providing homemade cakes.

- FutureLet, in Old Harlow, which is asking people to take in their homemade cakes from 10.30am-1.30pm. Staff will also be hosting a FutureLet bake-off style competition.

- Holy Cross Primary Academy, which will be holding a coffee morning in the parish hall in Traces Road.

If you are holding a coffee morning, send your photos and some details of how it went to star@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

Garden prepares for seasonal celebration

THE Gibberd Garden in Harlow will be the venue for an end of season celebration on Sunday.

There will be a special brunch menu followed by tea with homemade apple cakes, jams, and chutney.

The garden, in Marsh Lane, is open from 11.30am-6pm and the brunch will be served from 11.30am-2pm. Entry is £4 for adults (£3 concessions).

Shappi's so happy to be back on tour with all new show

GEMMA GARDNER

gemma.gradner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

COMEDIAN, best-selling author and Radio 4 regular Shappi Khorsandi is heading for Harlow Playhouse next month with her highly anticipated new show Shappi Khorsandi Live.

Shappi is one of the hottest comedy prospects in the country. She's feisty, flirty, effortlessly funny and handles every subject with a razor sharp wit, softened only by her dizzy delivery and endless charm.

Shappi has notched up numerous high-profile television appearances including MasterChef 2013, Live At The Apollo, Channel 4's Comedy Gala At The O2, Michael McIntyre's Comedy Roadshow and her own Comedy Store Special for Comedy Central.

She also had the honour of being nominated at the prestigious 2010 British Comedy Awards in the Best Female Comic category against fellow nominee's Jo Brand and Sarah Millican.

As a sought after cultural commentator, Iranian born Shappi has also appeared on Question Time and Woman's Hour (BBC Radio 4) as well as penning columns for several national newspapers and magazines.

It's little surprise, perhaps, that Shappi went down the performing route as the daughter of noted Iranian storyteller Hadi Khorsandi.

The family fled Iran during the Islamic Revolution after a satirical poem he wrote went down badly with the new regime, and for a while there were threats against his life in the UK.

Shappi studied community drama at university before moving into comedy.

She's also penned a book about growing up in a different culture, A Beginner's Guide to Acting English.

>> Shappi Khorsandi Live will be at Harlow Playhouse on Saturday, October 25. Tickets cost £16 and the show is for over 16s only. To book call the box office on (01279) 431945 or visit www.playhouseharlow.com.

MUSIC Enjoy the authoritative Beatles live concert show as it celebrates the golden anniversary of A Hard Day's Night. The film, album and hit single propelled John, Paul, George and Ringo to worldwide stardom. Their legendary live performances are recreated, starting from their Mop Top roots to the psychedelia of Sgt Pepper and beyond. Fantastic costumes, brilliant vocals and incredible musicianship come together in a lavish magical musical trip back to yesterday. Tonight's show (Thursday) starts at 7.30pm and tickets cost £18-£21.

MUSICAL Her name was Lola and she was showgirl. So begins Copacabana, a musical romance that has captivated audiences in the West End, Atlantic City and on-screen across the US. With original songs by Barry Manilow, dazzling costumes and fabulous choreography is a show that will leave you breathless, it features hits including Dancin' Fool, Who Needs To Dream, Aye Caramba, and, of course, the Grammy award-winning Copacabana. The show, which stars former S Club 7 singer Jon Lee as aspiring songwriter Tony, runs from next Thursday (October 2) to Saturday (October 4), with performances starting at 7.30pm. Tickets cost £14-£19.

COMEDY Join The Pantaloon Theatre Company for a fog-filled adventure in Victorian London as they perform their version of Bleak House. Hilarious, tragic and romantic by turns, Dickens' darkly comic masterpiece is retold by The Pantaloon's in their own inimitable style. The show on October 9 and 10 starts at 7.30pm and tickets are priced £13-£15.

Treat for ballet fans as Russians bring Swan Lake to town

THE Russian State Ballet and Opera House burst onto the stage in Harlow next month with a new performance of Swan Lake.

With instantly recognisable music by great Russian composer Tchaikovsky, and a timeless story of good against evil, Swan Lake is the greatest of romantic ballets.

This family orientated production brings forth colour, enthusiasm and vibrancy in the run up to Christmas.

Though the music is the same, the sets, costumes, artists and staging are completely different, making it feel very fresh.

Swan Lake has captured the imagination of many generations over the years and continues to inspire both young and old.

Producer Alexej Ignatow said: "We stand out because we pay attention to detail and put a lot of effort into choosing the best artists."

"With Russian ballet you get passion! This year we have chosen to work with the world famous Russian State Ballet and Opera Theatre of Komi that has delighted audiences since 1958, and are renowned for their ballet and opera masterpieces."

He added: "We feel that everyone should have the opportunity to enjoy ballet in their lifetime, which is why we are dedicated to presenting full and positive new productions in regional theatres."

"There is a misconception that you need to understand music or ballet to enjoy them but it is really for everyone."

"All these incredible performances are self-explanatory and you can be assured of falling in love with ballet."

The Russian State Ballet and Opera House continues to grow on the international stage and win awards, so this is an unmissable treat for the whole family.

>> Swan Lake will be at Harlow Playhouse on Friday, October 17 at 7.30pm. Visit www.ballet-tickets.com for information and tickets.

Advice for the autumn

What to do in the garden this week

AFTER a glorious summer at home pottering around his garden in Ireland, green-fingered TV presenter Diarmuid Gavin is now preparing his beds for the cooler months.

"Things in my own garden are beginning to die back," he said. "I have some wisterias I've been training up a cast iron verandah and underneath that I will be ripping out some perennials that haven't been happy in my garden."

He swears by the following tips for renewal and regeneration which will help your garden withstand the cooler months and ensure it is in good condition for the year ahead.

THE LAWN

It's time to get ready for renewal and the first thing to look at is the lawn, which has probably been battered by kids running all over it in the summer holidays.

A really good maintenance session, scarifying, aerating and topping up the roots of the grass plants with some autumn fertiliser will make a massive difference. Really getting stuck in with a spring tine rake to remove all the thatch is an incredibly satisfying job.

For a couple of weeks the lawn will look like you've demolished it but later on it will improve its condition. It's all about toughening it up to get it ready for winter. Spiking it and aerating it really allows the oxygen to get right down to the roots, but also releases some of the other bad gases that may have built up. Be cruel to be kind.

PROLONG THE SEASON

Continue to deadhead anything that's still in flower but also visit your local garden centre to see what's coming into flower.

Some of the autumn sedums are fantastic and encourage butterflies, so you could drop in some spot colour before the frost comes. Dahlias such as Bishop of Llandaff with bright flowers and deep purple foliage look fantastic now so put them in pots in the border.

Some of the Japanese anemones also look fantastic and there's plenty of scope for using spot colour in the garden. You don't have to give up just yet. Even some of the exotic-looking cannas such as Canna Tropicanna are looking good now.

CLEAR UP LEAVES

You'll have to rake up fallen leaves or they will suffocate any plant life underneath them and provide shelter for pests.

If you have lots of leaves and enough space and time, make leaf mould by putting your leaves into dustbin liners with air holes in them and leave them to rot down to make a great mulch. It does, however, take a year or so for the leaves to break down sufficiently to use.

HERBACEOUS PERENNIALS

Tidy up herbaceous perennials that are flopping or have developed rust.

In a month's time you can start to lift and divide perennials to renew their vigour and produce new plants. Out of one clump, you may get seven or eight smaller ones. Replant them, digging organic matter into the soil at the same time and they should give you a good show next year.

CHECK YOUR SOIL

Autumn is a good time to check to see how your soil is doing. Prepare to do a big mulch and buy in some organic material.

Planting is key. If the garden has produced the goods for you this year - and for most people it's been a really bountiful year - you want to condition the soil. See what will need to be mulched and enriched and order your manure to be delivered, before everyone else does."

CONSIDER FENCING

If your fencing has fallen down or broken, consider planting a hedge to replace it in the autumn.

Get rid of non-descript shrubs like forsythias and if you want a hedge, prepare the soil now. Autumn and winter is a great time for this because you're not battling against slugs, the lawn isn't growing at the rate it was and you have time to invest in one or two big projects.

PLANT BULBS

Bulbs have been in garden centres for the last eight weeks and now it's worth having a co-ordinated approach to this, considering what you want to achieve, whether it's bulbs in pots around the front door, or in drifts in a lawn - you can coordinate that with your lawn aeration - or in through the beds and borders.

There's no point in buying a dozen daffodils and planting them in a row because they'll look terrible. You have to plan and invest. Buy a 5kg bag of daffodils and plant them in drifts rather than placing them one by one. Throw them on the ground and see where they land, which will give you the most naturalistic planting. Plant them at least twice their depth and give them a bit of feed if you want them to be vigorous.

The secret is, don't skimp on bulbs. The only place you can skimp is if you're just putting them in pots.

:: Keep collecting seed from perennials and alpine and watch out for any tree and shrub seeds you might want to save.

:: When planting spring bulbs in pots, put plenty of drainage material in the bottom to stop them becoming waterlogged and add potting compost mixed with a handful of grit.

:: Stop feeding permanent plants in containers.

:: Watch out for the first autumn-fruiting raspberries. They should be ready for eating.

:: Divide and replant large clumps of perennial herbs.

:: Raise the cutting height on your lawnmower as the growth rate of the grass slows.

:: Take pelargonium cuttings to overwinter indoors.

:: Propagate new gooseberry bushes by taking hardwood cuttings from healthy plants before their leaves drop.

:: Collect, clean and store away cane supports as plants go past their best.

:: Detach the layered side shoots of carnations which have rooted and place them in a new spot.

Chocs away for sweet-toothed actor Stephen

ACTOR Stephen Tompkinson's latest voice-over gig couldn't be sweeter.

The DCI Banks star - who loves baking cupcakes with his daughter, cites caramel as his big foible and races his dad to the best treats in the chocolate box - has the enviable task of narrating Choccywoccydoodah: Starstruck, which returns to screens this month.

Now in its second series, it follows the Brighton-based Choccywoccydoodah team as they take on weird and wonderful cake commissions for celebrities including Sir Richard Branson, the late Joan Rivers, and rapper Tinie Tempah.

The first time Tompkinson met shop founders Christine Taylor and Christine Garrett in the firm's London flagship store, he took his 13-year-old daughter, Daisy, along.

"Their meeting room, which is called the 'Secret Room', is like a Willy Wonka meets Alice In Wonderland-inspired room with lots of little secret doors and little spy holes to look through," he said. "They put out an amazing display of cakes and milkshakes and all sorts. Daisy's eyes were on tarts."

"They gave her two canvas bags and told us to walk around the shop and help ourselves to anything. It was like a child's dream come true."

"And at Christmas and Easter they always send us something - a cake or some new chocolates they're trying out. We're very happy to be guinea pigs."

Comedienne Joan Rivers, who died earlier this month, jokingly requested a cake which was less than two calories a slice - a difficult ask given the chocolatiers' decadent output.

"They decided to build a cake that was 200 calories shy of a quarter of a million," says Tompkinson. "They sculpted her two pet dogs onto it, with

Recipes of the week

INDULGENT CHOCCY TOAST (Serves 4-6)

1 French stick, split down its length
1 x 340g jar peanut butter
1tsp cinnamon
3 bananas, sliced
250g milk or dark chocolate buttons

Heat the oven to 190C (170C fan)/ gas 5. Spread the peanut butter over two halves of the French stick and sprinkle with cinnamon.

Cover the peanut butter with sliced bananas and generously dot with chocolate buttons.

Using a sharp knife, cut the French stick into four to six pieces and wrap each one in foil before transferring to a baking tray.

Bake for 10-15 minutes. Take care when opening each package as the chocolate topping will be hot. Serve straight away.

CHOCOLATE MERINGUES (Makes 8-10)

2 egg whites
100g caster sugar
2tbsp cocoa
75g roasted almonds, chopped
50g milk, white or dark chocolate, chopped

Heat the oven to 180C (160C fan)/ gas 4. Whisk the egg whites until they resemble stiff peaks. Gradually whisk in the sugar, a spoonful at a time. Fold in the cocoa and almonds, reserving a few.

Put small spoonfuls of the mixture on a baking tray lined with parchment paper or a heatproof Teflon mat. Bake for about 15 minutes until set and then leave to cool on the tray.

Melt the chocolate in a bowl and using a piping bag or fork, drizzle the rocks with melted chocolate. Scatter with the reserved nuts.

the idea that it would look so nice she wouldn't cut into it and therefore not consume any calories whatsoever. So there's method in their madness."

Series two of the star-studded show will also feature an order from Wesley Snipes, who wanted an action-packed cake with explosion scenes to celebrate the release of The Expendables 3, and mind control maestro Derren Brown, who wanted the cake itself to be an illusion.

Brown's commission was Tompkinson's favourite of the series. "They took a lot of his favourite things - Victoriana, birds and things you would normally find under a glass globe - stuffed like a Victorian exhibit. But when you shone a light on it from a certain angle onto a back wall there was the outline of a sort of satanic figure."

Tompkinson, who grew up in North Yorkshire and Lancashire, enjoys helping Daisy try her hand at baking at home in Surrey but nothing on the Choccywoccydoodah scale.

He's never ordered a cake from the team but might ask them to whip something up for his 50th birthday next year.

"I might commission them to do a cake to celebrate all the different programmes I've been lucky enough to be involved in - there'd be an animal or two from Wild At Heart on there and a dead donkey, obviously.

"I would let them make the decisions, because they always dazzle and amaze."

WHAT WE DID ON OUR HOLIDAY (12A, 95 mins)

Billy's Highland fling is a feelgood Brit comedy

SEVEN years ago Andy Hamilton and Guy Jenkin abandoned the conventions of a tightly scripted sitcom and took a more fluid approach to mining laughs in the breakout TV hit Outnumbered.

While the adult characters' lines were committed to the page, the young actors were allowed to improvise around suggestions from Hamilton and Jenkin, and consequently delivered natural performances, reacting instinctively to set-ups and punchlines.

The writer-directors adopt the same winning recipe for this uproarious feature film debut, an ill-fated family road trip laced with absurdity that touches the heart and tickles the funny bone.

Gordie McLeod (Billy Connolly) is poised to celebrate his 75th birthday in the Scottish Highlands. His self-obsessed son Gavin (Ben Miller) is hosting the neighbours and hopefully secure the captaincy of the local golf club.

Gavin's long-suffering and neurotic wife Margaret (Amelia Bullmore) remains in the background, occasionally exploding with pent-up rage.

As the party beckons, Gavin's less successful brother Doug (David Tennant) and his wife Abi (Rosamund Pike) arrive with their three children in tow.

Eleven-year-old Lottie (Emilia Jones) scribbles repeatedly in her notebook so she can remember which lies she is supposed to tell, while six-year-old Mickey (Bobby Smallbridge), is obsessed with Vikings and five-year-old Jess (Harriet Turnbull), whose best friends are two rocks she calls Eric and Norman.

But the birthday celebrations are unexpectedly thrown into disarray and a media scrum descends on the family's doorstep, along with an interfering Social Services officer called Agnes (Celia Imrie) who casts doubt on Doug and Abi's ability to nurture their dysfunctional brood.

What We Did On Our Holiday is a rip-roaring riot, laying bare the petty jealousies and deep-rooted fears within a family while dealing with serious issues through the unblinkered eyes of the three children.

Tennant and Miller spark a fiery sibling rivalry with excellent support from Pike and Bullmore, the latter proving that it's the quiet ones you have to watch out for.

But once again it's the younger cast who steal the scenes with aplomb, explaining why a bout of car sickness is a source of joy ("It's like being a fountain") and succinctly distilling the anguish and betrayal of parental infidelity into a single throwaway line.

That's not to say that Hamilton and Jenkin short-change the rest of the ensemble cast and they eschew cloying sentimentality in the film's tricky final third, striking a pleasing and ultimately winning balance between musing and amusing.

THE EQUALIZER (15, 132mins)

DIRECTOR Antoine Fuqua, who guided Denzel Washington to the Oscar podium in Training Day, reunites with the charismatic actor for this gratuitously violent reimagining of the beloved 1980s TV series.

In a dizzying opening fight sequence, Washington impales a corkscrew in one henchman's head and repeatedly pummels a couple more as if he was tenderising a large slab of steak.

Each bonecracking blow, stab and punch is captured in balletic close-up; a queasy dance of death that reaches a hilarious and frenetic crescendo with drills and sledgehammers in a hardware warehouse where the title character works when he's not coolly doling out just desserts.

Robert McCall (Washington) has turned his back on his past as a covert government operative and has fashioned an unremarkable life in suburbia, where he nurses memories of his dead wife.

By day he earns a decent wage in a Home Mart warehouse and mentors another employee, Ralphie (Johnny Skourtis), through his security guard's exam. By night, McCall works his way through a list of 100 books everyone should read while enjoying a coffee at his local diner where he befriends a sassy prostitute called Teri (Chloe Grace Moretz).

When she ends up in hospital, battered and bruised at the hands of her controlling Russian pimp Slavi (David Meunier), McCall exacts revenge. Justice seemingly prevails.

Unfortunately, Slavi and his goons are a link in a bigger chain controlled by the Russian Mafia and they dispatch sadistic fixer Teddy (Marton Csokas) to track down McCall.

The Equalizer starts off promisingly, exploring the minutiae of McCall's daily life as a man scarred by grief and tormented by his past. Washington is in his element in these early scenes, capturing the maelstrom of emotions that simmer beneath his character's placid surface.

Once the first drop of blood is spilt, director Fuqua seizes every opportunity for wanton carnage to the point that it seems like nothing short of a nuclear explosion will stop McCall in his tracks.

Aries 21 March - 20 April
All kinds of relationships can benefit as Venus moves into Libra, as this will help you focus on the best solutions for all. This co-operative dimension could come in useful later in the week when a challenging situation may need such interpersonal skills. Meanwhile, over the weekend you can find yourself ready for fresh adventures and a slice of variety, Aries. Call for more...

Taurus 21 April - 21 May
You may be tempted to shy away from any diet and exercise disciplines, as Venus enters your lifestyle sector. Yet, the midweek Quarter Moon in Capricorn could be enough to pique your conscience and encourage you back on track. If you recommit to your goal at this point, you'll likely have enough staying power to succeed. Call now for more news and astral advice...

Gemini 22 May - 21 June
Romantic options sparkle from this week, whatever your relationship status, as do creative opportunities. Yet, you'll need to integrate work and play, relaxation and responsibility if you're going to make the most of the days ahead. Later, as Mercury enters its retro phase, keep a watchful eye on personal information and data. Call me now for your love scope in full...

Cancer 22 June - 23 July
Entertaining, redecorating and adding harmonious touches to your home can increase your sense of wellbeing. The wishes of others at home are also important, especially if you're going to make lasting progress. A weekend flurry of excitement could help you succeed at a goal that has a liberating effect on you, but a generational gap can cause a clash. Call for your in-depth forecast...

Leo 24 July - 23 August
A conciliatory mood can help disperse bad feelings associated with a niggling personal issue. Meanwhile, as Mercury reverts in your home zone, you may find that DIY projects or even buying or selling will be subject to delays over the coming weeks. Yet, the weekend's lively buzz gives you every chance to live in the moment, Leo. Call for more news and advice...

Virgo 24 August - 23 September
You may feel like relaxing your budget and giving yourself more leeway to splurge. Yet, the Quarter Moon could boost your creativity in this regard, helping you to find innovative ways to get what you need without it costing the earth. Later, Mercury's retrograde in your talk and thought sector can give you a fresh perspective on an old issue. Call for your financial scope...

Libra 24 September - 23 October
Your charm and confidence increase as Venus enters your sign, encouraging you to reach out, network and make some positive new connections. You'll need to liaise with family members on an important decision though. Yet, excitement builds as a friendly connection brings options for fresh adventures and lively experiences. More than one admirer beckons too. Call for more...

Scorpio 24 October - 22 November
An innovative approach to earning money gets the week off to a good start. Thinking outside of the box could spotlight solutions that transform any angst into a savvy awareness, and encourage an upturn. Meanwhile, the Quarter Moon encourages you to balance intuition with practical know how for best results. However, it does help to expect the unexpected. Call for more news...

Sagittarius 23 November - 21 December
Your social life sparkles as Venus moves in, making for warm and friendly meetings and an increased chance of romance. However, your focus seems set on activities that can help you break free from the shackles of routine or from habits that sometimes see you in a rut. Indeed, an impulsive move over the weekend could leave you feeling exhilarated. Call for more advice...

Capricorn 22 December - 20 January
You can benefit from making closer and warmer connections with those who are linked with your most ambitious goals and plans, as doing so could positively impact the outcome. The midweek Quarter Moon in your sign amplifies this theme, by encouraging you to compromise when seeking solutions. Yet, there is no doubting your leadership potential. Call for more...

Aquarius 21 January - 19 February
Your connection with a significant other can lead you to travel new paths and byways, which could have a significant and positive effect on your future. Exploring together could be very rewarding at this time. Later, as Mercury shuffles backwards, this can perhaps cause delays to your professional hopes. Surprisingly, in time, you might benefit from this. Call for more...

Pisces 20 February - 20 March
You seem to be firing on all cylinders when it comes to moving ahead with your job or personal ambitions - as long as you can remain flexible. What's even more interesting is that your beliefs can also change, and leave you more confident about achieving results. Although red tape could hold you back at times, perseverance can reap its own rewards. Call for more astral advice...

ANY thoughts of retirement jollies such as Caribbean cruises and golfing jaunts are being put on the back burner as more and more parents feel the need to help their offspring take a step onto the property ladder.

A new survey by housing and homelessness charity Shelter reveals that parents are now paying an average of £23,000 to help their children with a deposit.

It's not just Londoners who are finding it tough. According to the charity, an average 25-year-old wanting to buy in Essex will be 38 before they can afford their own place. It's not much better across the border in Hertfordshire, where they will be 41.

A fifth of parents are dipping into savings they have set aside for retirement or elderly care, the study suggests. More than a quarter of those questioned by the charity said that they had reduced their spending to raise cash for their offspring.

Now we've come out of the summer holiday lull there are signs the housing market is starting to move again and it looks like parental finances are being squeezed, with 60 per cent of parents saying that they were unable to save any money for their children's future.

The charity warned that unless more affordable homes are built, young families would find it impossible to buy their own properties.

Campbell Robb, Shelter's chief executive, said: "A payout from the bank of mum and dad can't be the next generation's only chance of affording a home of their own."

"Parents want to help their kids to get a start in life but with many feeling the squeeze themselves, this is only an option for a lucky few."

On the market for £285,000

THIS stylish semi-detached home is in Mallards Rise, a sought-after location in the Church Langley area of Harlow.

It has good-sized living accommodation including three bedrooms a lounge and separate dining room as well as a ground floor cloakroom.

The generous sized rear garden features a patio leading to the lawn, while to the front of the property there is a garage and driveway with parking for three cars.

Mulberry Green Estates has further details on (01279) 429423.

Yours for £575,000

THIS contemporary detached house is situated in a cul-de-sac at Burnett Park on the outskirts of Harlow.

With mature, unoverlooked gardens, this stylish home has been extended to offer spacious accommodation including four bedrooms and three bathrooms.

There is a wide, open plan front garden while the rear garden extends to three sides and backs onto a copse. There is also an integral double garage and a summer house.

Geoffrey Matthew Estates in Harlow has details on (01279) 444988.

Bungalow for £399,995

THIS semi-detached bungalow in Redricks Lane at Sawbridgeworth offers plenty of potential throughout.

There are three bedrooms, a shower room, a large lounge/diner leading into a conservatory and a lean-to utility at the side of the kitchen.

Attached to one side of the house is a single garage.

The rear garden is long and laid to lawn with a pond, a summer house, a shed and a greenhouse. There are fields to the rear.

Call Howick and Brooker on (01279) 418888 for full details or to arrange a viewing.

Building plot with planning consent

THIS building plot at Hoe Lane in Lower Nazeing has planning consent for a substantial detached home.

The plot of 0/56 hectares (1.38 acres) is in an attractive rural location yet within easy reach of nearby towns.

Planning consent is for a detached five bedroom dwelling (computer generated image above) with a ground floor guest room and en-suite, extending to some 3,960.44 sq ft (367.93 m2).

For further information contact Sworders on (01279) 771188.

Our job is all about listening

Members of staff at Intercounty Estate Agents show great patience, understanding and manners, their listening skills are impeccable. In future Intercounty will be the only Estate Agent I will deal with.

Mrs S, 14/6/2014

We're extremely grateful for all the help you've given us over the past 2 years. It's been by far the best experience I've had with rented accommodation, so thank you!

Mr J, 6/8/2014

I have received a great service from Intercounty as a complete organisation, so would happily recommend onwards.

Miss Fielder, 22/8/2014

Sometimes a bit embarrassing but always nice to hear.

"Don't Be Scared By The Legals"

When you decide to move, you are probably focussed on the benefits you will enjoy from your new property, or the relief of finding a solution to some of the issues associated with the old one. It could be issues such as too much or too little space, proximity of location to work, maintenance, etc. Whatever the issue, the new property will usually solve it.

However, whilst most people are happy to make a buying decision based around these solutions, your solicitor is employed to ensure that the transaction actually happens, and that you are protected both as a buyer and seller.

For example, whilst many buyers are familiar with the concept of undertaking a local authority search which discloses whether any planning applications have been made that might affect the property, fewer are aware of certain other aspects such as restrictive covenants which may have been lodged years ago by the original builder or subsequent seller. This could range from a prohibition on building an extension, to the payment of a right of use charge which might have accumulated unpaid over hundreds of years!

Don't be surprised if your buyer's solicitor asks if you are aware of any rights to extract fish, harvest hay, drive cattle or mine minerals at your property, or if anyone has ever claimed a right of way. They are just doing their job of protecting the buyer from every eventuality.

In some instances you may be asked to cover an insurance premium against eventualities such as the local parish's right to a contribution towards the upkeep of the parish church (usually discovered by a Chancel Search). The premium can run to several hundred pounds, but you are not obliged to pay, and you could ask the buyer to carry a calculated risk themselves.

Usually such queries are pure formalities and are unlikely to be pivotal to the success of your transaction, but it's worth knowing when the time comes.

Benefits of a centre for small businesses

WHEN starting up a business, working from home can seem like the best option.

However, as the company succeeds, many find that they outgrow the home office advantage. Inevitably, having children at your feet can begin to lose its appeal, as family needs and wants impinge on business time and impact professional meetings.

Allen House Business Centre in Sawbridgeworth understands this dilemma. As a family-run centre for small businesses, we can provide the answer – a local, professional environment which will improve your mind-set, recover your work/life balance and give your business an enhanced appearance to clients. This in turn encourages growth and success – as proved by many of our tenants.

An office with easy access to the M11 and mainline railway is only one advantage to moving your company out of home. Other benefits include meeting rooms available for hire, conference facilities and packages and a central reception point for visitors.

All tenants at Allen House Business Centre benefit from month-in month-out terms, free car parking within our 200-space car park, excellent professional support and free marketing opportunities at the Allen House Business Network, where you can meet like-minded associates and expand your portfolio.

All this cannot fail to motivate and appeal, especially as an affordable way of working normal hours without constant interruption. We have even accommodated office-sharing between friends as a smart choice to help with costs.

With offices starting at just £295 per month (all inclusive), the tranquil Grade II listed premises are just the place for you to thrive and improve your company's performance.

Why not visit the Allen House Business Centre to get an insight? Register by email at info@allenhousebusinesscentre.co.uk, take a look at our website at www.allenhousebusinesscentre.co.uk, view our Facebook page at Allen House Business Centre or call now for further details on (01279) 834834.

IT'S Take 3 for Audi and its hugely popular TT, which promises better efficiency, a more sporty driving experience and some clever new technology. MATT JOY reports.

You don't have to be a car-ista to know about the Audi TT. Since the first generation appeared in 1999, it's been the choice of the fashion-conscious, but it took until the second model in 2005 before the driving experience could match its looks.

Now the third generation has arrived and it promises to move the TT forward in a significant way.

Like the old car, it uses a mix of aluminium and high-strength steels to keep the weight down, yet it's 50kg lighter than the old car. It also debuts what Audi terms the "virtual cockpit" – a large display screen where the instruments would normally be.

Add to that a new exterior, interior and refreshed engines and there's plenty to take in.

LOOKS AND IMAGE

You'd be forgiven for thinking that third generation TT is barely changed, but park one next to the

Fact File

Audi TT 2.0-litre TFSI

£29,770

ENGINE: 2.0-litre unit producing 227bhp
TRANSMISSION: 6-speed manual driving front wheels
PERFORMANCE: Top speed 155mph, 0-62 in 6 seconds
ECONOMY: 47.9mpg (combined)
CO² RATING: 137g/km

fractionally prioritises comfort over ultimate handling but for everyday use it's judged very well. It handles neatly, with strong grip and a sense of security while doing a fine job of soaking up bumps.

VALUE FOR MONEY

All versions get the clever virtual cockpit as standard, the touchpad MMI control system to operate it, keyless go and the Audi Drive Select system.

There's leather and Alcantara sports seats, 18-inch alloy wheels and LED daytime running lights as standard, too, but you need to pay extra to get sat-nav and fully automatic climate control.

WHO WOULD BUY ONE

If you loved the previous TTs then this one will be right up your street.

Fashion-conscious buyers will be happy to be seen stepping out of it, but now keener drivers can get excited about it, too.

It's not the ultimate sports car, but it's sharp enough and sufficiently good fun to keep the majority of drivers very happy.

old car and the differences become clearer.

It's broader in the shoulder and more edgy than before, particularly at the front, where there's a mean six-sided grille and vertical LEDs in the headlights to match the R15 Le Mans racer.

The unique curved roof stays, and hotter TTs models get a more distinctive nose. A job well done, then.

SPACE AND PRACTICALITY

Move to the inside and the focus is clearly on those up front. The virtual cockpit means an uncluttered dashboard, and there's plenty of clever thinking here. The air vents house the controls for the air con itself, while the instrument display is crystal clear and informative.

Front-seat passengers have good space for head and legs and the boot is 13 litres larger than before – but the rear seats remain the domain of children, unless your adult friends are very short in stature.

BEHIND THE WHEEL

There's three flavours to choose from; 2.0-litre TFSI in 227bhp and 306bhp forms, plus the 181bhp 2.0-litre TDI Ultra. The lower-output petrol is likely to be the most popular and strikes a good balance between performance and efficiency.

Wring it out and it will hit 62mph in six seconds flat, half a second quicker if you go for Quattro four-wheel-drive and the S tronic gearbox, yet it can also manage 39.2mpg combined.

There's a pleasing gruffness to the exhaust note when you rev it out, yet it is quiet and refined when cruising.

With standard suspension, the TT

Scrap Cars

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

BERR

End of the road? Get over it and move on with your local ATF:

B & T Motor Salvage

We offer free collection, on the same day if necessary, using our own recovery vehicles and issue a Certificate of Destruction from the Department of Vehicle Licensing Authority via our direct link to their website.

Payment per vehicle negotiable.

HIGHWAYS AGENCY

ROAD TRAFFIC REGULATION ACT 1984 - SECTION 14(1)(A) THE M11 MOTORWAY (JUNCTION 7, ESSEX) SLIP ROADS (TEMPORARY PROHIBITION OF TRAFFIC) ORDER 201

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Secretary of State for Transport intends to make an Order on the M11 Motorway at Junction 7 slip roads in the County of Essex to allow for resurfacing, road markings and traffic loops reinstatement works to be carried out in safety.

The works would take place over 6 nights on weekdays (8pm to 6am) starting on, or after, Monday 20 October 2014.

The effect of the Order would be to close, on alternate nights, the exit and entry slip roads leading to the northbound carriageway and the entry slip road leading to the southbound carriageway of the M11 at Junction 7 —

- M11 northbound traffic wishing to exit at Junction 7, will continue northbound to exit at Junction 8, re-join M11 southbound at Junction 8 and exit at Junction 7,
- Northbound traffic wishing to enter the M11 at Junction 7 will be diverted southbound to Junction 6 of the M11 and continue anticlockwise onto the M25 to Junction 26 and exit and re-join M25 clockwise to re-join the M11 at Junction 6 and continue northbound, and
- Southbound traffic wishing to join the M11 at Junction 7 will be diverted northbound to M11 exiting at Junction 8 and re-join the M11 southbound at Junction 8.

The closures (which would not apply to emergency service or works vehicles) and diversion routes would be clearly indicated by traffic signs throughout the works.

The Order would come into force on 13 October 2014 and have a maximum duration of eighteen months.

Mrs Y A Tomkins, An official of the Highways Agency
General Enquiries relating to this notice may be made in writing to Keith Hutchinson at the Highways Agency, Woodlands, Manton Lane, Bedford, MK41 7LW or by telephoning 01234 796510.

CALL CHARGES: D

Revenge sweet for super Ladies

HARLOW'S second team got their season off to a flyer with a 4-0 home win against Upminster's fourth team in the Essex Women's Hockey League division four.

When Harlow hosted the same opponents in this fixture last season, they were thrashed 9-1.

But with Harlow's new recruits and a team working well together, they showed they could be a force to be reckoned with this season.

Harlow broke the deadlock on 28 minutes. Tanishka Naidoo saw a shot saved by the Upminster keeper but it wasn't cleared properly and Sarah French-Laskowski, on her club debut, rifled home.

Seven minutes after the restart Harlow doubled their lead with a superb individual goal. Lara Horrax won the ball off an Upminster player at the halfway line, beat five players to reach the D and then hit a straight strike at the edge of the D which flew into the net.

The hosts' third goal came from French-Laskowski, as she completed a brace. Receiving the ball in the Harlow half she stormed through to net another sublime individual goal.

With eight minutes left Horrax scored her second with a straight strike on the edge of the D for 4-0. HARLOW (squad): Naidoo, French-Laskowski, Horrax, O. Figg, N. Donaghey, Care, S. Figg, T. Taylor, E. Taylor, Bull, S. Donaghey, Johnson-Marshall, Dearman.

POWER PLAY: Action from the Essex Leopards match at the weekend (s)

Leopards in National Cup success

ESSEX Leopards powered their way into the National Cup second round with a 95-48 victory against Barking Abbey on Sunday.

Dave Ajumobi led the way with 21 points and four assists as the Big Cats proved too strong for the young visiting side, and they will now host Hackney White Heat, which could be played in Harlow.

Josh Foulds opened the score for Abbey but back-to-back scores from Courtney Van Beest gave Leopards a lead they never lost.

Ajumobi sent Leopards into the first break with a 23-12 lead, and a 15-0 run across the first two periods effectively ended the game as a contest as the home team led 42-23 at half-time.

A 12-2 start to the second half continued the pain for the visitors, and Leopards led 68-31 at the final break before wrapping things up with a 27-17 fourth period.

Van Beest and Will Ashby finished with 16 points apiece, with the former adding seven rebounds and six assists, with Lawrence Brown and Marvin Isebor each adding ten points.

Friday's home game against London Lions proved to be something of an anti-climax as a depleted Leopards' side went down 87-48 in front of a big crowd at the Brentwood Centre.

Leopards were without several key players including Ajumobi.

American forward Byron Richards scored Leopards' first nine points and four straight Lawrence Brown points kept them ahead 16-13 with eight minutes gone.

The home side went into the first break with a 20-15 lead.

That proved to be as good as it got for the hosts as Lions opened the second period with a 15-2 run as the BBL team ran out comfortable winners although the home side did compete to the end.

Richards finished with 11 points for the home side despite suffering an ankle injury in the second half.

Leopards face Lakenheath and Dagenham Dragons this Saturday.

Mixed fortunes as hockey sides start their campaign

Harlow 3
Redbridge 1
(East Men's Hockey League, division six south east)

HARLOW got their season off to a flyer with a 3-1 home victory against Redbridge.

The last few seasons have been a troubled time for the club.

The men's teams merged into one, and compounding this, Harlow suffered a series of major injuries to key players.

But Harlow were able to welcome Ben Light, Andy Boughtwood and Dan Munro back to the fold after they recovered from injury.

Meanwhile, former player Adam Ottley has returned to the club.

All four played against Redbridge.

The future is now looking brighter. Harlow started off slowly on Saturday though, allowing Redbridge into the D and keeper Solomon Castillo made a great save.

However, the ball fell to an opposition player who slotted home the rebound.

That lead was short-lived as Harlow earned themselves a penalty corner, which was successfully converted by Boughtwood.

This goal galvanised the hosts, forcing Redbridge to only attack down the middle, which was easily dealt with by the home defence.

Harlow then broke on the counter-attack and Boughtwood bagged his second goal thanks to some wonderful passing.

The third goal came shortly after half-time when Boughtwood slotted home another penalty corner.

With the three points in the bag Harlow played some keep ball which frustrated their opponents, leading to some vicious tackles and Rhys Mace suffered the worst as he was smashed across a knee by a Redbridge stick, forcing him off moments before the final whistle.

But Harlow held on to record an impressive win and now sit fifth in the league.

They travel to Southend this Saturday.

HARLOW (squad): Solomon Castillo, Martin Cox, Keith Johnson, Adam Ottley, Michael Adams, Luke Krzoska, Rob Chandler, Rhys Mace, Benn Hagger, Ben Light, Andy Boughtwood, Dan Munro.

Maldon 4
Harlow 3
(Essex Women's Hockey League, premier division)

FREAK weather conditions and a yellow card cost Harlow Ladies as they went down to a 4-3 loss against Maldon in their season opener.

In the strangest of weathers came the strangest of games.

Harlow were slow to start despite their extensive warm-up and conceded an early goal from a narrow angle.

The hot rain came amidst a more even 10 minutes before Charlotte Byers equalised from a short corner.

Harlow took control of possession with strong passing performances in midfield from Sue Thomas and Bethan Spencer, ably supported by Gemma Blore.

But Harlow suffered a massive blow when experienced and influential player Charlotte Byers was sent to the sin-bin just before half-time, and Harlow hung on well to go in level at the break.

Maldon started strongly at the beginning of the second half and took a commanding 3-1 lead.

Harlow battled well and Steff Hawes had a goal disallowed before one was pulled back by player-of-the-match Byers from a short-corner routine.

Alex Figg, Jo Chambers and Anita Shearman defended heroically in the second period, keeping the dangerous Maldon forward line at bay and restricting them to very few opportunities.

It was a counter-attacking break that led to Maldon's fourth goal which looped off Chambers' stick and over Rowley who could do nothing about the unfortunate deflection.

Hawes and Castle pushed Harlow forward in search of further goals and were unlucky not to score.

However, Harlow grabbed a third when Byers completed her hat-trick when she followed up a strong shot.

But the hosts could not find the equaliser their play deserved.

Despite this setback, a strong team performance bodes well for the season ahead with Harlow unlucky to lose to what will be a team surely pushing for the top spot in the division.

Goal machine Read points to priceless winner

IT is on nights like this that titles are won and lost, writes ALAN SCOTT.

Striker Alex Read rescued three points with a 90th-minute winner, and stretched the Hawks' unbeaten run in Ryman division one north, as they over-turned a half-time deficit.

Hawks midfielder Dave Cowley told the Star: "It was one of those games. We grinded out the result. To come out after half-time and pull two goals back - it was a massive result, especially to find out after that Needham and Thurrock had lost points.

"We knew the clock was ticking, but we should be picking up three points against these teams.

"We know it wasn't a great performance, but to get the three points was so important.

"The thing you need to win these games is a bit of luck, and we know that luck is on our side. We just think it could be our year."

Harlow Town 2
Chatham Tn 1
(Ryman League, division one north)

The Hawks went behind on 10 minutes when Mason Bloomfield scrambled the ball home after poor defending from a left-wing cross.

Bloomfield should have had a second, miscuing badly, while a superb last-ditch tackle from Hawks skipper Fabian Simms prevented a second goal.

After a poor first half, Harlow gave notice of their intentions in injury-time when Simms' goalbound header was cleared off the line as it looked destined for the bottom left corner.

It looked as though the hosts had found a way back into the match when Robbie Martin's cross from the left on 57 minutes found the head of Read, pictured, from close range but incredibly the ball hit the underside of the bar, bounced down and was cleared.

But Chatham did not heed the warning and Harlow levelled on 62 minutes when Shane Stamp's ball across the box from the left found Read and he teed up Cowley who swept a left-footed shot from 10 yards through a crowded box and into the bottom right corner.

After a series of awful challenges on Read which continued for most of the game, the referee finally decided to bring out the yellow cards when a rake down the striker's calf by Brad Potter was spotted with 15 minutes left.

Read, who hit a club record-breaking tally of goals last season, is certainly a marked man this term, and Harlow can only hope officials stop turning a blind eye.

Suddenly the Kent visitors came alive and Bloomfield missed a sitter with 10 minutes left, before substitute Luke Medley's long-range effort was superbly tipped away by Hawks keeper Ed Thompson.

Then with time running out, Martin teed up Cowley and his exquisite curled left-footed shot was brilliantly tipped away by Lee Kidman.

But Harlow had one last chance in them and as the clock struck 90 and Chatham failed to clear the ensuing corner, Martin swung his left boot to plant a deep cross from the left to the far post and Read nodded the ball over the line to put the hosts in front.

In injury-time, striker Billy Jones, signed from Enfield 1893, came on for his debut, replacing the hero Read. His work was done.

The Hawks remain unbeaten in the league and sit second having won nine of their first 11 matches, and are a point behind leaders Needham with a game in hand.

Chapman has his eyes fixed on the top spot.

"We're still unbeaten which is good, keeping on the heels of Needham Market, all you can do this keep winning football matches.

"You have got to stick by what you believe in, the players need to stick by what we believe in, how we work and how we do things and we'll get results."

Six of the best for Hawks as clash mars goal feast

Harlow Tn 6
Dereham Tn 3
(Ryman League, division one north)

BY THOMAS NANCARROW
star-sport@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW Town boss Danny Chapman hailed the performance of goalkeeper Ed Thompson – who kept calm after clashing with a Dereham Town player in Saturday's 6-3 victory.

Thompson returned from injury to play in the nine-goal feast, as the Hawks maintained their unbeaten start to the Ryman League division one north season.

But on 85 minutes, a Dereham player allegedly left his boot in on the custodian, who reacted furiously.

The referee booked both players.

Chapman said: "Ed's one of the nicest fellas I've ever met and for him to jump up and explode the way he exploded, then their players have obviously taken a liberty in some way, shape or form," he said.

"But at the same time I think the referee handled it in the right way, he could have easily sent Ed and then the other lad off, but he didn't – he gave them two yellows and the game moved on so I have got no problems with what Ed has done."

Thompson had replaced Dean Driscoll, who made a bad error in the FA Cup replay defeat to Grays Athletic four days earlier.

A first half hat-trick from Alex Read, and goals from James Smith, Fabian Simms and Dave Cowley sunk the Norfolk side.

The clinical Read opened the scoring 16 minutes in after Matt Howard sold goalkeeper Andy Wilton extremely short with a suicidal back header. Read pounced on it and nudged past Wilton before slotting home.

Harlow made it 2-0 soon after. Cowley's free-kick was headed in by Simms.

Read grabbed his second midway through the first half when he met a long ball from Joshua Urquhart, who turned defence into attack. Read fired the ball hard and low through Wilton.

The Harlow hit-man completed his hat-trick in style towards the end of the first half when slack Dereham defending allowed him to unleash a thunderous strike into the top right corner.

Dereham pulled a goal back when Ryan Hawkins nodded home on the hour.

Hawkins then won a penalty and substitute Luke Tuttle rocketed the ball past Thompson.

But Harlow knocked the wind out of Dereham's sails with their fifth goal soon after, when Robbie Martin intercepted a loose pass and slipped a superb reverse pass through to Smith, and he slotted the ball in at the near post clinically.

Cowley made it six when he shot into the bottom right corner from the edge of the box.

The visitors netted a brilliant third goal to restore some pride, as Tuttle fired in to conclude a thoroughly entertaining match.

Chapman said: "Nice to score six goals but at the same time we have got to do better defensively."

"We are not going to score six goals every game and we could have got unstuck today and it's just down to lack of concentration, individual errors and that's what cost us the other night against Grays."

He added: "You can't get away from the fact that we've conceded seven goals in two matches and that's not acceptable, so that's something we need to work on but I say by and large to get three points – I'm happy with that."

"I think the difference was that we was more clinical, in the final third we were exceptional at times and that's why we went in 4-0 up."

"At times we were devastating to watch."

"Read scored three goals so he will get the headlines, but I couldn't pick anyone out, I thought they were brilliant."

Colts warm-up for English Cup tie with narrow Wanstead loss

YOUTH RUGBY

HARLOW Colts suffered a narrow 8-7 loss at Wanstead in a friendly as they prepare for next Sunday's English Cup first round tie at home to Woodford.

In a closely contested game throughout, with little quarter given and the majority of time spent in midfield, Harlow were a little unlucky to be on the wrong side of a one-point defeat last weekend.

Although they were 8-0 down at half-time the boys fought back early in the second half with Dan Stevenson muscling his way over the try line in the corner and Alfie Clark converting from the touch-line.

Harlow's forwards took control of the scrum and mauls, pushing Wanstead backwards, in the second half.

And the young Rams went heart-breakingly close to snatching victory with the final play of the game, as full-back Jack Almond saw some space behind the stretched Wanstead defence and, with an expertly weighted kick, he set flanker Joe Tucker off in pursuit. He gathered the ball on the bounce, avoiding a tackle from the side only to be bundled over the touch-line by the covering Wanstead full-back just four metres out.

HARLOW COLTS: James Mallardo, Mitchell Hodgkinson, Randy Agyeman, Tom Dowers, Jack Christy, Joe Tucker, Louis Stevens, Dan Stevenson, Jake Bunker, Alfie Clark, Alex Beard, Connor Davis, Zack Pace, George McVeigh, Jack Almond. Replacements: Samuel Gray, Kai Sharpe, Ben Spear.

The Harlow U-9 mini teams enjoyed a brilliant series of matches with Woodford.

Seven boys made their debuts for Harlow: Jacob Morgan, Callum Hewlett, Morgan Hawkins, Archie Goodger, Alex Yard, Dylan Hodges and Oscar Woodward.

Harlow Rugby Club spokesman Paul Eynon said: "The kids enjoyed themselves and were brave in the tackles and determined in attack."

Joe Court was top try scorer with 15. Archie Allen, James Forde and Henry Stovell were the best players.

Results: Harlow 1 v Woodford 1 - Harlow won 5-4; Harlow 2 v Woodford 2 - Woodford won 5-4; Harlow 3 v Woodford 3 - Woodford won 6-5; Harlow 2 v Woodford 1 - Harlow won 7-5; Harlow 1 v Woodford 3 - Woodford won 6-3; Harlow 3 v Woodford 2 - Harlow won 5-4; Harlow 2 v Woodford 3 - Harlow won 6-5; Harlow 3 v Woodford 1 - Harlow won 6-5; Harlow 1 v Woodford 2 - Woodford won 6-2.

Overall Harlow 43 Woodford 47, with 90 tries scored in total.

Harlow 1: Toby Ayres, Archie Allen, Jacob Morgan, Tyree Zengeni, George Snowdon, Callum Hewlett, Amity Mignot, Jacque Mignot.

Man of the match: Archie Allen.

Harlow 2: James Forde, Morgan Hawkins, Will Pite, Joe Court, Archie Goodger, Owen Eynon, Freddie Thurlay, Alex Yard.

Man of the match: James Forde.

Harlow U-10s played two matches against Woodford, losing 9-0 and 8-0, their first home matches of the new season.

On Sunday October 12 at 10.30am the club is running an open day for U-12s/Year 7 children, specifically aimed at youngsters who have started playing rugby at school and got a taste for the game, or perhaps just want to learn more.

Karate kid Kayleigh's double medal success

SHE may only be small, but Harlow's Kayleigh Tyler is kicking and punching above her weight.

The karate kid – just four belts off her black belt – scooped gold and silver medals at the United Martial Arts Academy dojo in Croydon, South London.

At the event, the 11-year-old student from Burnt Mill Academy, pictured right, had to compete in both kata – a sequence of precise moves – and kumite fighting.

Kayleigh, a member of Lea Valley Karate Academy for four years, said: "I train three times a week and have won medals before. I wasn't expecting to come away with medals from this event though, as it was mainly training."

"I was so excited to start Burnt Mill full-time in September to try out more sport."

The youngster gained her gold medal for her kata and came second in kumite, earning her the silver.

Runners' Essex joy and record

HARLOW Running Club had a successful day at the Essex Half Marathon Championships, held at Pleshey near Chelmsford.

Runners picked up two Essex medals, broke a HRC record and secured five personal best (PB) times for the distance.

Steve Murtagh led the way in seventh place out of 403 finishers and was first veteran 50, winning the gold medal in his age group in a fantastic 1 hour, 17 minutes and 14 seconds and this was also a HRC Vet 50 record.

He was followed home by Jared Bethell (ninth in 1:18.34), while John Tennant was 111th and second veteran 60, winning the silver medal in his age group in 1:35.15.

Other HRC PB times were: Pasquale Pellicchia (160th 1:40.38), Sandra Rust (187th 1:43.27 PB) and Janice Page (230th 1:47.57), Robin Lozeau (238th 1:49.35), Debbie Smith (273rd 1:53.29), Susan Maloney (345th 2:07.21) and Vicky Calver (365th, 2:11.31).

Meanwhile at the Great Notley Park run 5K at Braintree, Frank Pardoe was seventh out of 66 finishers in a superb 20.50 in his debut at the distance, and Alan Wellbelove was 52nd in 32.30.

At the Gunpowder Park run 5K at Waltham Abbey Andy Kinney was 47th out 86 finishers in 27.43.

Rams have summit to shout about

Harlow Town 37
Billerica 26
(RFU London division three north east)

THE Rams are sitting pretty at the top of RFU London division three north east, after a second straight win.

Harlow certainly kept it in the family as well, with two sets of brothers playing, as well as two cousins in the 37-26 home victory against Billericay.

One of the cousins, Chay Clark, was handed his first team debut, coming on as a substitute. However, it was Scott Whitby who took the plaudits.

He continues to impress with the boot, converting all four tries and adding a further three penalties.

Last season there were times when Harlow did not cash in on their kicking opportunities and if Whitby can continue with this form it will make a big difference.

Meanwhile, James Clark continues to show good form on the wing and he scored a try.

Skipper Shaun Roberts produced a captain's performance with two tries, while full-back Rob Mackie ensured the four-try bonus point.

James Clark opened the scoring after good interlinking play between backs and forwards helped to give James McFerran a two on one attack, and he slipped the ball to James Clark to score.

The second try saw a training-ground routine pay off as a backs' move put Mackie through the gap to score.

Roberts scored his first try as he forced his way over the line after Harlow worked well to win line-out ball.

The captain then notched a second try when he picked up from a scrum 20 yards out and broke through the non-existent defence to score under the posts.

Harlow are level on 10 points at the top with Wanstead, but ahead on points difference.

This Saturday Harlow are away to Upminster who are fifth in the table with a win and a loss.

"In the meantime, with an unbeaten record and bonus points in both games, they can enjoy their place at the top of the table," said club press officer Dave Sharp.

England debut beckons after Will enjoys a Boston glee party!

WILL Marklew will represent his country after a stunning top-four finish at the English National Schools Combined Events athletics finals in Boston, Lincolnshire.

The 16-year-old Harlow Athletic Club member's performances earned him an invitation to represent England at the Combined Events International finals in Glasgow in December.

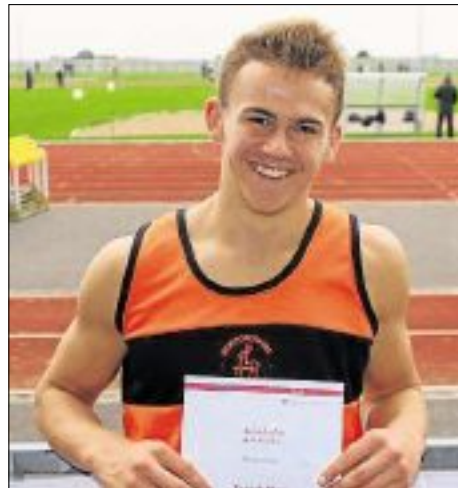

At Boston, he was representing Hertfordshire in the octathlon, in only his fourth ever combined events competition against the best 41 octathletes from across Britain.

The competition followed three qualifying rounds and covered eight athletic events over two days.

Will is a javelin thrower, and only started having dedicated multi-events coaching during the summer holidays.

Day one of the competition started well, with a personal best (PB) of 5.75m in one of his weakest events, the long jump. However, it left him lying 21st overall.

Will threw a solid 34.65m in the discus and moved

YOUR COUNTRY NEEDS YOU: Will Marklew sealed an England call-up up to 11th, before an impressive 56.74m javelin throw pushed him into second.

The damp and cold day one ended with the 400m which he ran in 55.55s, placing him fifth overnight.

Day two began with another weaker event for Will, the hurdles.

However, his recent training paid off and he won his heat comfortably with another PB of 15.2s, putting him up to fourth.

A disappointing high jump followed with a leap of 1.76m, 10cm short of the teenager's PB.

Shot put was the next event and a solid 12.33m kept Will in fifth going into the final event, the 1,500m.

Qualification for the right to represent England in December required a top four place.

Will needed an excellent run, and after two grueling days, managed to produce yet another PB to finish second in four minutes and 44 seconds.

Overall, he scored an impressive 4,898 points, giving him a national standard qualification, that important fourth place and the chance to represent England.

Speaking after the finals, his mother Karen said: "Performing at this level over two days is an amazing achievement for anyone. What is particularly impressive is the fact that this is Will's first season at multi-events and only his second season in athletics."

"However, he has sacrificed all of his other sports to concentrate on athletics and has trained incredibly hard over the summer."

"His school rugby team are a man down and having played youth football for Bishop's Stortford for 10 years, he decided to step down this season to avoid injury.

"None of these have been easy decisions for him, but the results speak for themselves. We are all incredibly proud of him. He has trained very hard and deserves this success."

This rounded off an impressive athletics season for the athlete which has seen him crowned Essex champion for octathlon, javelin and high jump, south east regional champion for octathlon and England U-17 silver medalist for javelin.

On top of all of this, he managed to produce seven grade As and two Bs in his GCSEs this summer and is now embarking on his A-levels.

Will is currently ranked fifth in the UK for javelin for his age group and fifth for octathlon.

Next year, he moves up to the U-20 category, despite having only just turned 16 in July.

He will need to learn to pole vault while the heights and weights for the events all increase.

He will begin his winter training soon to prepare for the indoor season in January.

'Read's on the right path to take us up'

HAWKS midfielder Dave Cowley is tipping goal machine Alex Read to grab another half century this season - and is convinced the side will seal promotion to the Ryman premier at the end of this campaign.

Cowley, the 2011 Hawks Supporters' Player of the Year who re-joined the club in the summer, kick-started a thrilling comeback on Tuesday when he equalised against Chatham Town, before Read hit a 90th-minute winner (see page 78 for match report).

Cowley beamed: "Credit to Ready. If he keeps scoring the way he is then it is a bonus for the team. I have played against Ready quite a few times. He always scores goals. He got the record last year and he's started off this season the same way. I am sure he will get 40 or 50 goals this season."

"We have a good chance of promotion. We have had a great start.

BY ALAN SCOTT

alan.scott@hertsexnews.co.uk

There is a good togetherness, we are keeping positive and remaining confident.

"I hope I will be speaking to you at the end of the year when we have been promoted."

With Harlow's rivals Needham Market and Thurrock both losing, it was a vital three points considering Danny Chapman's men were missing influential pair, centre-half Josh Urquhart and midfielder James Smith (work commitments).

Cowley was just surprised to get a pass inside the box from Read for his goal!

"I was surprised Alex set me. He loves to score a goal," Cowley joked.

Cowley, in his third spell at Harlow, knows how crucial it is that the rest of the team chip in with the goals to take the pressure off Read.

"That was my third in the league. If I can keep scoring then that will be great," he said. "To still be unbeaten in the league is credit to the boys. Hopefully we can continue unbeaten for as long as possible."

"There is a great buzz around the stadium. All the boys are buzzing."

Next up for the Hawks is a tricky league match at Essex neighbours Brightlingsea Regent this Saturday before Tuesday's long trip to Wroxham in Norfolk, but Cowley says the team will go there full of confidence.

Urquhart and Smith should be back.

"These games against teams that are lower in the league - you expect to win, but we need the right mentality. These are the games that make you win the league," he added.
